U.S. Loses First Big
Bombers Of Korea War

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops wielding flame-throwers today drove stubborn Reds out of pillboxes on the western Korean front.

Chinese Communists kept up their strange new tactic of disappearing in one sector, then bouncing back at the Allies in another. American soldiers have tagged it "operation mystify."

American airmen still were totaling up the score of history's biggest jet battle, which swirled Thursday over north-west Korea.

Died Today

Brig. James Sutherland Brown, retired military figure, passed away in Veterans' Hospital early today. He was active in veterans' organizations and prominent member of the Conservative Party.

Judge Rejects Bakeries' Bid For Dismissal

CALGARY (CP)—Mr. Justice Boyd McBride today dismissed each of the motions for non-suit made by the six western baking concerns charged with conspiracy to prevent or lessen competition in the industry in the three western provinces between 1933 and 1950, and then called on them to submit their defence evidence.

The accused in the alleged bread combine case, which completed its 14th week of hearing today, are the three McGavin Ltd. companies at Winnipeg, Edmonton and Vancouver; Canadian Bakeries Ltd., Calgary; Weston Bread and Cake (Canada) Ltd., Winnipeg; and Edmonton City Baking Ltd., a Weston company.

The Crown concluded its case last Friday and four days of this week were taken by arguments over the applications of the accused that the charge be dismissed as against each of them.

(But in Washington, the U.P. reported the air force reported that the B-29 bombers were shot down by enemy MIG-15 fighter planes in the Sinuiju area in northwest Korea yesterday.

(They were the first four-engine U.S. bombers shot down by enemy aircraft in the Korean war.

(A spokesman told newsmen he had no report on crews but assumed that all men aboard were lost. He said the bombers went down on the Korean side of the Yalu River which divides Korea and Manchuria.)

CLAIM VIOLATION
Peiping radio said 71 American bombers and fighters dropped 110 bombs on the Manchurian city of Antung. The Red broadcast, heard in Tokyo, also said American planes attacked the airfield outside the city.

All Allied planes are under strict orders not to cross the Yalu River.

On the western front, United Nations troops across the Hantan River advanced Friday against no opposition. There was no renewal of Wednesday's bitter fighting.

In the west-central sector, a spectacular Napalm air strike, the closest yet to the Canadians in this sector, aided the Patricia's yesterday when they concentrated their fire on Chinese positions.

The Chinese were indiscreet enough to move about 200 yards ahead of a mountain top captured Wednesday by a company commanded by Capt. Del Harrison of Calgary.

They drew the full weight of his fire, plus the flaming jelled gasoline.

MAHARAJAH TO LOSE TITLES
NEW DELHI (AP)—The Indian government today cracked down on the fabulously wealthy Maharajah of Baroda by depriving him of all his royal titles and more than $500,000 in annual revenue.

It was learned that President Rajendra Prasad informed the Maharajah the action was taken because the Maharajah had failed to account for 23,500,000 rupees ($4,935,000) allegedly taken from the Baroda state treasury since India gained her freedom in 1947.

'I'm Not Superstitious . . . But . . .

Refused Bed In Hospital For 3 Days, Loses Child

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Donald Ritchie, whose doctor reported a three-day delay in getting her admitted to hospital, has lost her first baby.

She was admitted to hospital Wednesday and Thursday night suffered a miscarriage. She was three months pregnant.

Eighteen-year-old Mrs. Ritchie was married last May.

The doctor, who asked his name not be used, claimed he had been refused a bed for his patient.

U.S. Ships In Greece
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Greek navy will get two United States destroyers under the military assistance program April 18. The ships are the Eberle and the Ludlow, harbored at Boston.

because the hospitals are overcrowded.

This report added to the already heightened controversy over the government's hospital insurance service.

At Victoria, Health Minister Turnbull said that Mrs. Ritchie would have been admitted to hospital if her doctor had reported the case as an emergency.

But the doctor said he had reported the case as an emergency and that it made no difference.

"It doesn't matter how you report a case," he said. "If they haven't got a bed, you can't get one—even if you stand on your head and ask for it."

Mr. Turnbull expressed the belief doctors in Vancouver were trying to sabotage the hospital insurance scheme.

"I think the doctors and some others are definitely trying to sabotage the scheme," he said.

Mrs. Ritchie's doctor termed the sabotage charge "ridiculous."

Auto Tire Boost Is Slated Here

Although no official news has been received, Victoria auto tire dealers today were definitely expecting a price increase of from 10 to 15 per cent.

"We haven't heard from the manufacturers," one dealer said, "but it's pretty certain that a price change is on the way."

Alberta Doctor Dies

EDMONTON (CP)—Dr. W. N. Gourlay, 49, an outstanding Alberta surgeon and chief medical officer for the Workmen's Compensation Board, died today in hospital after a prolonged illness.

Crew members said they could see him standing beside his stalled plane waving his parachute. Emergency equipment and a radio were dropped from him, but no radio communication had been established.

Senate Body Asks M'Arthur To Appear As Star Witness

U.S. Rejects British Stand On Red China

Canada Preparing View On Jap Treaty

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States today turned down Great Britain's suggestion that Communist China be allowed to help write a Japanese peace treaty.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's views on a Japanese peace treaty, including the subjects of Formosa and the Pacific fisheries, should be ready for sending to Washington within a week, External Affairs Minister Pearson said today.

He told a press conference Canada will have something to say later about the future of Formosa. In the meantime, Canada's view remains that Formosa should not be placed in the hands of an unfriendly power—Red China.

Mr. Pearson made these points:

1. There are a lot of hurdles to be passed but so far there is "very substantial agreement" among the non-Communist powers concerned in preliminary discussions of what the treaty should contain. It is hoped agreement can be reached by exchanges of views with Washington acting as the clearing house.

2. So far as he knows, Britain has never said that the treaty should assign Formosa to Red China and Britain has not "demanded" that the Communists rather than Chiang Kai-shek be allowed to speak for China on the treaty.

3. It was indicated, however, that Britain, since she recognizes the Reds, has expressed the view that Peiping should be China's voice. Her views were raised as a subject for discussion.

4. There is a big section on fisheries in the tentative U.S. draft of a treaty now under study here. Canada has found it "reasonably satisfactory" in its provisions for halting revival of Japanese depredations in the North Pacific but would have views to express about making the provisions better.

Toronto Suburbs Flooded By Rain; Roads Impassable

TORONTO (CP)—Almost two inches of rain fell in the Toronto area Thursday, causing widespread flooding.

The weather bureau recorded 1.78 inches by 7 p.m., but by midnight the worst was over as the downpour gave way to clear skies.

Although it was the heaviest rainfall in some time, it was by no means a record. In one April day in 1850, 2.35 inches fell.

But the water ebbed slowly from many streets and cellars in the city, and in Brampton, 20 miles west of here, the business section was still under a few inches of water from the swollen Etobicoke Creek.

Thousands of suburbanites were late getting home from work as subways were inundated, roads became impassable and water as deep as three feet swirled around their homes.

The colorful Papal court staged a ceremony of solemn grandeur for the sixth visit in 350 years of members of the British Royal family.

The Pope chatted for 20 minutes in his private library with the Princess and the Duke.

Princess Elizabeth wore a black velvet dress reaching to the ground, with a black veil of Spanish lace hanging loosely from her head to her knees. Her jewels were a diamond necklace and diamond bracelet. Prince Philip was in naval uniform.

CANADA BACKS CREATION OF U.N. ANTI-FORCE ARMY

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is prepared to back the creation of a United Nations anti-aggression army, the External Affairs Department said today.

It was commenting on a New York dispatch which said the U.N. has appealed to its members "as a matter of urgency" to notify headquarters what units of their armed forces will be earmarked for such a force.

The department said a formal letter will go out shortly to the U.N., pointing out that all of Canada's ground forces, either fighting or designated for action in Korea, could be made part of any over-all anti-aggression force.

About 1,100 men, the Canadian Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, now are in Korea and another 5,000 are in Fort Lewis, Wash., ready to embark for that war theatre.

Britain Threatens Force Against Iran Oil Rioting

12, Including 2 British Killed. Armored Cars
With Troops Arrive As Situation Still Tense

LONDON (CP)—Britain threatened today to take action of her own to protect British lives and her giant oil concession in Iran following riots in which, at last reports, 30 persons were killed or wounded.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons that latest reports from Abadan, field headquarters of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, said two British and one Italian seaman were among those who died in clashes Thursday.

In response to a question by Deputy Conservative Leader Anthony Eden whether British naval vessels "are available and whether others are proceeding to the neighborhood," Morrison said the matter is being considered.

Asked by Anthony Eden if warships would be sent without hesitation if necessary, Morrison said: "I should not hesitate to take appropriate action."

Amid cheers he added, "If British lives are imperilled, we have got to do something about it."

TROOPS ARRIVE
TEHRAN (Reuters)—Iranian armored cars and troop reinforcements today reached the strike-torn oil town of Abadan, where more than 30 were killed or injured in riots Thursday.

Crowds were gathering again today, and the situation was reported tense.

Twelve persons died and 19 were injured in Thursday's riots, which the government has blamed on Communist agitation. The rioters battered to death two British and one Italian seamen and injured eight other Britons, including two children. Iranian security forces stopped the rioters just before they reached the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company's great Abadan refinery, killing nine and wounding 11 with rifle fire.

The rioting began when striking apprentices, shouting "kill the British," led a crowd from the bazaar area towards the residential quarter.

They seized the Europeans and mauled them to death before troops could get to the scene.

Princess Spouse Received By Pope

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Pope today received Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh in audience in his Vatican Palace.

The colorful Papal court staged a ceremony of solemn grandeur for the sixth visit in 350 years of members of the British Royal family.

The Pope chatted for 20 minutes in his private library with the Princess and the Duke.

Princess Elizabeth wore a black velvet dress reaching to the ground, with a black veil of Spanish lace hanging loosely from her head to her knees. Her jewels were a diamond necklace and diamond bracelet. Prince Philip was in naval uniform.

Republicans Want Talk To Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate armed services committee today unanimously invited Gen. Douglas MacArthur to appear as a star witness in an inquiry into events that led to his removal from command in the Far East.

Republican leaders meanwhile piled new pressure on Democrats to let the general address a joint session of Congress next week.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts announced that MacArthur either will speak to Congress next Wednesday or Thursday or else will make a speech in New York.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), said the Senate committee backed the proposal for MacArthur to address an informal joint session of Congress. He explained it should be similar to the one held for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower upon his return from Europe.

UP TO DEMOCRATS

Martin put it up to Democratic House leaders to decide whether MacArthur would speak to Congress. He gave them until this afternoon. He said he would talk with Speaker Sam Rayburn and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts then on the question of whether to invite the general to address Congress.

Rayburn said he is thinking it over. Martin said that if the answer is no, MacArthur "will go directly to New York from San Francisco, stopping at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel."

The general is flying back to this country Monday to give his homeland—which he has not seen in 14 years—his side of the policy quarrel which led to his dismissal Wednesday by President Truman.

NO DATE SET
The Senate armed services committee did not set a date for MacArthur's appearance.

Russell said that the committee will "explode" all of the events that led to MacArthur's dismissal. He said that he hopes to start the hearings next Wednesday with Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall as the first witness.

Most of the hearings will be closed in the interest of national security, he said. But he added that if MacArthur requests an open hearing "I am sure that the committee will be glad to accommodate him."

Alta. Cities Suffer From Heavy Winds

EDMONTON (CP)—The worst wind storms in seven years, with gusts up to 67 miles an hour, struck Edmonton and district last night and today and caused thousands of dollars in damage to signs and windows, telephone and telegraph lines and the electric light services.

At Red Deer the guests reached 80 miles an hour during the night. There was a trace of rain and snow in most areas.

In Calgary a north wind averaging 56 miles per hour and gusts to 63, hit the town this morning disrupting communication and transportation systems.

Calgarians on their way to work at 8:30 a.m. faced gusts of 46 miles an hour which increased to 56 m.p.h. shortly after 9 a.m. By mid-morning, streets were practically deserted as people stayed indoors to avoid the blowing dust which almost obliterated the North Hill from downtown Calgary.

U.S. Reaffirms Plan To Defend Formosa Island

TOIPEH (AP)—Vice-Admiral Harold M. Martin today reaffirmed United States determination to protect Formosa, from Communist invasion.

And 140 American carrier planes roaring low over the Chinese Nationalist island added emphasis to his words. The U.S. Seventh Fleet commander told a press conference:

"I hope the Chinese Communists interpret our movements exactly as we mean them—that the Seventh Fleet can exercise the influence of sea power anywhere we damn well please. The Seventh Fleet cannot

San Francisco Arranges Welcome for MacArthur

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Gen. MacArthur advised city officials today he will arrive in San Francisco Monday afternoon and agreed to their request for a public celebration of his homecoming.

Gen. MacArthur informed Mayor Elmer E. Robinson he plans to arrive at San Francisco airport from Hawaii late Monday. From there, he will be driven in an open car through the city to St. Francis Hotel, where the Presidential suite is being prepared for him.

RESCUERS SCALING PEAK

Flier Stranded Atop Mt. Rainier

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP)—A United States Air Force flier landed atop 14,408-foot Mount Rainier yesterday—and he's still there.

He wasn't able to take off again.

The stranded flier, Lieut. John Hodgkins, 31, huddled in his souped-up Piper Cub throughout the night in 20 below zero weather while the air force tried to get him down.

Friends say Hodgkins has a desire to be known as the flier who has landed and taken off from a higher point than anyone else in the world.

Yesterday, Hodgkins spread straw over the runway, at a tiny airport about 60 miles from Mount Rainier, then took off in his ski-equipped plane.

Sgt. Charles Bunch of Tacoma, flying in another plane, accompanied Hodgkins as far as the mountain top and saw him land safely.

EMERGENCY KIT DROPPED

A B-17 made two drops of emergency equipment into the crater last night.

On the ground, two park service rangers and three other rescuers headed for the area last night.

The good news that he had survived the night in the 20 below zero cold, came this morning from a "flying boxcar" of the McChord Air Force Base air rescue service.

Crew members said they could see him standing beside his stalled plane waving his parachute. Emergency equipment and a radio were dropped from him, but no radio communication had been established.

SERIES BY MRS. LUGRIN NEW FEATURE IN TIMES' MAGAZINE

Mrs. N. deBertrand Lugrin's "I Remember" series, specially written for the Victoria Daily Times, will commence in tomorrow's magazine section.

These memoirs cover 60 years of the history of the Canadian west, commencing with the exodus of the author's family from the United Empire Loyalist-founded city of Fredericton, N.B., before the turn of the century, and the colorful period which lies between then and now.

N. deBertrand Lugrin's work is familiar to many readers in British Columbia and is best known to Victorians for her "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island" which she wrote some years ago for the Women's Canadian Club.

For the past 15 years the family home has been in Saanich on the "Old West Farm" where she has written many stories of the early settlers, the farms and gardens and the Tsautip Indians.

See where Peron aims to buy La Prensa. But there ain't enough money in the world for him to buy its good name.

From machine-guns to business machines shouldn't be much of a switch for MacArthur. He'll still be helpin' ta keep outa th' red.

Liquor in restaurants might be nice, but the big question is, can I still afford to take a little food with my meals.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

GIRLS AND POLITICS

BECAUSE I have long maintained that it is essential for women, as well as men, to know what makes governments, at the federal, provincial and municipal level "tick," and essential for more women to get into public life if government is to be truly representative, I welcomed the copy of an article sent to me by an American reader of this column.

It appeared in the Independent Woman, the official publication of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs in the United States, and was written by Dorothy Pifer Buck, whose daughter is one of the girls alluded to.

LEGISLATIVE TRAINING

MRS. BUCK describes a growing movement which has been launched in the United States to give selected teen-age girls training for active, intelligent, responsible citizenship. "Girls' Nation" is the name given to a group of young American women who are organized for the specific purpose of acquiring a basic understanding of law making, the functions of U.S. government, and the mechanics of choosing its public officials.

While the movement has been sponsored by the American Legion, it is receiving enthusiastic and practical support from many other organizations, and is already proving well worth while.

STATE CITIZENS

THE TEEN-AGERS who form the "Girls' Nation" are chosen from the "citizens" of the "Girls' States" that have been organized in every one of the 48 states of the Union and in Alaska.

Those Girls' State citizens, in turn, are selected in each community from girls in their next to last year of secondary school from a list of candidates suggested by the principals and teachers, the final choice resting with the local unit of the Legion Auxiliary. Candidates are chosen for qualities of leadership, good scholarship, civic pride, co-operation and good character.

CAMPUS TRAINING

EVERY YEAR the girl citizens of each Girls' State live together for a week on the campus of an interested college, while receiving a course of training in practical citizenship. Upon registering for the course, each girl is assigned to one of two hypothetical political parties, the Nationalists and Federalists, an equal number being allocated to each party.

For instance, Massachusetts Girl States become citizens of an imaginary State divided into the City of Tolerance and the Town of Justice, the County of United containing the City of Peace and the Town of Freedom, the County of Courage with the City of Goodwill and the Town of Democracy, and so on. In this environment, the girls learn the mechanics of the two-party system and how to participate intelligently.

NATIONAL LEVEL

EACH YEAR, two Girls' Nation delegates are chosen from each Girls' State to study and practice government on a national scale. In 1950 this national meeting was held at Mount Vernon Seminary for Girls at Washington, D.C. In the U.S. capital, the 98 girl delegates formed their government, elected their officials, held party meetings of Nationalists and Federalists, nominated candidates for office, ran campaigns and voted by secret ballot.

While kept entirely free from current political propaganda, the course taught the girls the importance of taking part in this hypothetical political campaign by collecting exact information before forming opinions and to be tolerant of the opinions of others.

ATTEND CONGRESS

THE YOUNG "politicians" attended a session of the U.S. Senate, to see their lawmakers in operation, also a simulated session of the U.S. Supreme Court. They also toured the various departments of government administration and visited national shrines. In other words, every girl who has had the experience of being a citizen of Girls' Nation, has received a practical demonstration of politics in the local, state and national fields.

I have dedicated this column to their organization because I feel that, with the world in its present state, any movement destined to encourage young people to grow up into democratic, intelligent, informed and responsible citizens is worthy of emulation.

Plan Practice Bombing, Rocket Firing Areas In Wash. Waters

SEATTLE (AP)—The Navy has asked for establishment of four "surface danger areas" in Washington State waters.

The district army engineer's office disclosed the move in announcing a public hearing in Seattle, May 8.

It said the areas would be for practice bombing and rocket firing.

They are:

Pacific Ocean in vicinity of Sea Lion Rock, which is off the northern Grays Harbor County coast line; area to have radius of one mile, but limited to portion of the circle shoreward of the three-mile limit.

Admiralty Inlet, west shore of Whidbey Island; area with radius of one mile; water area only.

San Juan Channel, Georgia Strait, southwest of Waldron Island; radius of one mile.

Strait of Juan de Fuca, eastern end, at Minor Island; radius of one mile with centre at Minor Island light.

The notice said no vessel shall enter or remain within the area except with the permission of 13th naval district authorities.

Oak Bay Kiwanis Club will begin renovation of its Willows Park pavilion April 29, and will study the cost of installing children's swings at Oak Bay Park.

MAN WITH A DRUM is a South Korean laborer struggling up snow-covered hill with 55-gallon diesel oil drum on back. He'll be able to lay down load when he reaches relay station near front lines.

Roger Laverdure, 18, of 1170 Caledonia Avenue, entered a plea of guilty and Robert Starkey, 18, of 3153 Orilla Street, reserved plea late Thursday in Saanich police court in connection with stolen goods cases.

They were among seven teen-age youths Saanich police rounded up last week-end and recovered about $2,000 worth of a wide variety of property stolen from Greater Victoria schools and other places over a period of two years.

Laverdure admitted theft of two tires and wheels, valued at over $25, the property of W. J. Wratten, Cedar Hill Road. Remanded to April 19 for sentence.

Starkey, represented by counsel James J. Proudfoot, is charged with retaining stolen tools, of under the value of $25, the property of the Greater Victoria School Board. He was remanded to next Thursday for trial.

'FRINGE BENEFITS' ARGUED

Working Conditions Of Civic Staff Questioned

Monetary value of "fringe benefits" which City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt claimed the outside staff enjoyed were debated before a conciliation board Thursday sitting on a wage and conditions dispute, between the city and the union.

Benefits referred to were annual holidays, statutory holidays and sick leave.

"What would those fringe benefits amount to in the hourly pay rate?" asked Thomas Gooderham, spokesman for the Civic Employees' Protective Association, No. 50, representing 260 to 300 outside employees.

"About 20 per cent," replied Cyril Jones, city engineer.

"In Vancouver where they have more fringe benefits than here it is estimated at 10 per cent," said Mr. Gooderham.

A. C. Newton Smith, city personnel officer, contended the cash gratuity of 75 per cent of accumulated sick leave on retirement, boosted the value of Victoria's benefits.

"No city outside of Toronto has such a generous arrangement," he said.

Thomas Fanthorpe of the union's bargaining committee, wanted to know, in view of the high turnover of labor, how

Worst Floods For 70 Years Threaten

Residents Near St. Paul, Minn., Pack In Readiness To Quit Homes

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Lowlanders packed their belongings and prepared to flee today as the upper Mississippi River threatened to engulf their homes with the worst floods in 70 years.

The Mississippi was rising along a 500-mile stretch from its headwaters at Lake Itasca, in northwest Minnesota downstream as far as the Iowa border.

A hundred families were forced from their homes in the twin cities area as the river flooded three South St. Paul residential districts.

The Minnesota River was racing toward a crest early today at Chaska, Minn., where 150 families took to higher ground. Residents of Marshall, Minn., returned to their homes as the Redwood River receded and the town's water and sewage systems resumed normal operations.

Knee-deep mud covered the air base at Sioux Falls, S.D., where 3,000 persons fled last week when the Big Sioux River flooded their homes.

The Red River of the north, which flows toward Hudson Bay, crested at Fargo, N.D., and was expected to crest two to four feet lower than previously forecast at Grand Forks.

Red Cross disaster crews were alerted to care for hundreds of persons here if large scale evacuations became necessary in the twin cities area.

Land Seizure Attempt

ROME (AP)—Carabinieri broke up efforts of an estimated 1,000 farm workers to occupy land in the Sila area of Cosenza in southern Italy, the Italian news agency Ansa reported Thursday. The workers were members of Communist and other extreme-left co-operatives that attempted to block the government's land distribution program.

Wide Disaster Powers Set Up By Government

Emergency powers for the provincial government in the event of disaster are provided in a civil defence bill introduced in the Legislature Thursday by Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith.

The powers include:

To enter into agreements with the Dominion government, any province, municipality, person, firm or corporation;

To appoint an advisory council and defence committees with or without remuneration;

To acquire real and personal property (by proclamation only);

To take any measures for any action concerning civil defence or disaster;

To enforce all laws, rules and regulations relating to civil defence and prepare a comprehensive plan and program for civil defence;

To institute training programs and public information programs including the partial or full mobilization of civil defence or other organizations in advance of actual emergency of disaster;

To employ or summon the assistance of any person between the ages of 18 and 60, except train men, telegraphers, dispatchers, medical practitioners and persons physically unfit, in the event of emergency (by proclamation only);

To designate any area of the province a disaster area, target area, cushion area, civil defence zone, or reception area;

To make grants to municipalities for civil defence.

Duncan Voters Favor Rezoning

DUNCAN — In a plebiscite Thursday on the rezoning of a portion of Trunk Road for business purposes, ratepayers favored rezoning by a vote of 248 to 188.

Trunk Road is the main artery joining the Duncan business section and the new Island Highway about one-half mile to the east.

The problem arose when Safeway Stores Ltd. acquired an option on a piece of land originally rezoned to permit construction of a hotel. The decision then facing the city council, and referred to the ratepayers by the plebiscite, was whether or not a new business section would develop on Trunk Road.

Club Aims Outlined

FIREMEN OVER-ZEALOUS; SNEAK NEIGHBORING TOWN'S BLAZES

OLD BRIDGE, N.J. (AP)—Firemen here are eager beavers. But the nearby South Old Bridge Fire Company doesn't like it. The Old Bridge firemen are stealing their fires, says South Old Bridge Fire Chief William Bede. In fact, they sneak into "our territory" with lights out and sirens silent to put out fires before the local company can get there.

"They're making us look like a bunch of chumps," Chief Bede admitted.

He said he thought it was all due to a mix-up of fire alarm calls. There are some telephone operators "who have husbands in the South Old Bridge Fire Company," he hinted darkly.

Border Incidents Keep Indo-China Pot Boiling

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda said today that Chinese Communist troops on the border between China and Indo-China have captured four French officers and 23 Indo-Chinese soldiers who crossed into China and aided Chinese bandits operating against Peiping army units.

The Communist Party organ published Chinese charges that the French had repeatedly violated China's southern frontier and caused "continual border incidents" including raids by French planes.

Pravda said the French and Indo-Chinese personnel were captured early in March in the Kimping district.

Kimping is just north of the Indo-China border centre Phongtho, which the French this week reported was occupied April 1 by a battalion of about 500 Chinese Communist "bandits." French and Moroccan troops have been moved to the area in an effort to drive the Chinese out.

SCOFF AT REPORT

PARIS (AP)—A French foreign ministry official scoffed at a Communist report today that French forces have "invaded" Red China.

The official denied the report and passed it off as "part of the war of nerves."

Youths Hanged For $12 Robbery-Slaying
BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Two youths were hanged today for a robbery-slaying which netted them $12.

The two youngest persons ever executed in Idaho—were Troy Powell, 21, and Ernie Walrath, 20.

They pleaded guilty to the final knife and beating of Newton Wilson, 65-year-old Boise grocer, last May. Walrath admitted stabbing the grocer seven times in the back.

Twain Auction Ends

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The auction of Mark Twain's library and furnishings brought more than $40,000, and his daughter's home here probably will bring $60,000, the auctioneers said today. The four-day auction ended last night. The home will be sold this week.

China Not Likely To Discuss Peace

Answer To Overtures Will Probably Be Huge Ground Attacks, Air Blows

By DONALD J. GONZALES, United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Many U.S. diplomatic and military strategists are betting that Red China will reject President Truman's peace offer with a blazing ground offensive supported by Communist air power provided by Russia.

Brig. Brown Had Brilliant Career Canadian Army

Brig. James Sutherland-Brown (Ret.) died early today in Veterans' Hospital, Richmond Road. He would have been 70 in June.

Brig. Brown came to the coast in 1923 when appointed to Work Point Barracks as commanding officer of military district No. 11. He held that post until his retirement from the army in 1933.

He entered politics shortly afterward and ran as an unsuccessful Conservative candidate in both federal and provincial elections.

Brig. Brown was particularly active in the Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans' Association. He was a past president of both the local unit and the provincial command.

He was an honorary life president of both groups.

MANY DECORATIONS

Born in Simcoe, Ontario, he was educated at public schools there and at the University of Toronto. He enlisted in the Norfolk Rifles of The Royal Canadian Regiment and was in England at Royal Staff College when the First World War broke out.

He served with the first and third Canadian divisions during the war; was mentioned in dispatches five times; was awarded the D.S.O. in 1916, and the C.M.G. in 1918.

Brig. Brown had been in hospital here three weeks.

He is survived by his wife, Clare, at home, 1931 Bowker Place, and two sons, Lt.-Col. Malcolm Sutherland-Brown, at Imperial Staff College, Camberly, Eng., and Athol Sutherland-Brown, attending Princeton University on a fellowship awarded in the field of geology.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Hayward's B.C. Funeral Company.

Gets Fellowship

Noel B. Montagnon of Vavenby, B.C., has been awarded an Athlone fellowship for students. It was announced in Montreal Wednesday.

NEW YORK (AP)—Screen actress Arlene Dahl, 25, and Alexander Crichlow Barker Jr., 31, the "Tarzan" of the screen, Friday got a marriage license. The wedding is set for April 17.

Official quarters reported today that there had been no behind-the-scenes approaches by the Communists to end the war. The announced objective of the Reds remains to drive the United Nations forces off the Korean peninsula.

The possibility of approaches by the Chinese Reds or by Moscow has not been ruled out. But the absence of any Red feelers, strategists believe the Communists are getting ready for a major offensive and preparations are being made to meet it.

It was learned that British, Indian and Swedish diplomats in Peiping have been rebuffed by the Chinese Government on all recent attempts to sound out the Communists' aim in Korea. Some of the diplomats reportedly have not been able to contact the Chinese Foreign Office when they asked for appointments.

The same lack of success has been registered by the United Nations' Good Offices Commission.

Strategists concede that a Communist ground offensive would pose a serious threat to U.N. troops. But the explosive probability is that Soviet-built planes based in Manchuria would back up the thrust on a major scale.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur had authority to strike Manchurian basis if the enemy planes hit U.N. forces and there are no indications that authority was rescinded following the general's dismissal.

Urges Revival Of Jap Fishing

TOKYO (AP)—Senator Warren Magnuson (Dem. Wash.) has called for revival of the Japanese fishing industry.

Magnuson, who has been conferring with Japanese business men, said in an interview: "I think we could sit down and sign a fisheries treaty right now, as far as meeting the conditions go. The Japanese have been scrupulously heeding regulations. I am sure most Pacific nations will agree."

Expect Break In Deadlock Over Agenda

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Ivo Mallet, member of the British delegation to the Big-Four deputies' talks in Paris, flew to London today in what is believed a western move to break the conference deadlock.

The conference is stalled in its attempt to draft an agenda for an east-west foreign ministers' meeting.

Mallet will see Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison.

Charles Bohlen, American assistant deputy at the conference, flew to the United States earlier this week to consult State Secretary Dean Acheson on means of breaking the five-week stalemate.

Bishops Branded 'Peace Enemies'

BUDAPEST (Reuters)—The Hungarian Workers Party newspaper Szabad Nep today named as "enemies of the peace" three Roman Catholic bishops who refused to sign the Berlin Peace Conference petition.

This petition, drawn up by the Communist-sponsored World Peace Council in February, called for a peace pact among the five great powers.

Failure At Torquay

WHEN THE LAST WAR ENDED THE world's commerce was in chaos. Great Nations were bankrupt and living on the aid of others. There could be no hope of recovery until goods began to move again between the peoples who had them and those who needed them. While gifts and loans, like those of the Marshall Plan, could sustain an exhausted world temporarily its only hope of permanent prosperity lay in the expansion of international trade.

Trade had long been strangled by artificial barriers which threatened to destroy it altogether. By the Geneva trade agreements of 1947 some of these barriers were removed but many remained. Six months ago the signatories of the Geneva agreements met at Torquay, England, to reduce trade barriers still farther, and unclose a larger flow of international commerce.

Today it is clear that the Torquay conference has failed. While no official announcements have been made, enough is known to show that the existing barriers to trade will remain despite every effort to whittle them down. The most depressing fact is that Britain and the United States have been unable to negotiate a new trade agreement. There may be a new agreement between Canada and the United States, perhaps some agreements elsewhere, but the great objective of Torquay has not been achieved.

The reason for this failure is the British preferential tariff system—the system under which the nations of the Commonwealth grant to one another lower tariffs than those levied on goods from other countries. The United States offered at Torquay to reduce its tariffs on all foreign goods if the Commonwealth would reduce its preferential margins in favor of American goods. This Britain, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa refused to do. Therefore no real agreement was possible at Torquay.

It is easy to understand why Britain and its partners in the sterling area were unwilling to surrender existing trade advantages in return for the chance to gain the larger prize of an expanded American market. But they are making a mistake for which they will pay dear.

The basic fact which the preferential system tries to deny is that the Commonwealth is not large enough nor rich enough to live unto itself. To prosper it must trade with the world at large and especially with the rich and voracious markets of the dollar area. And eventually, however the Commonwealth and sterling trade zone is protected by preferential tariffs or otherwise, its members, because they must have goods from the dollar area, will break these artificial restrictions and insist on trading abundantly with the western hemisphere, especially with the United States and Canada.

Already Canada has demonstrated this fact by committing two-thirds of its trade to the American market. Canada refuses to confine itself to the Commonwealth and sterling areas for to do so would be to plunge this nation overnight into unexampled poverty. Without the wealth of Canada's resources the theory of a closed British trading preserve, if it had any validity to begin with, must certainly fail. Yet the attempt to make it succeed, even without this essential ingredient, still goes on, as the Torquay conference demonstrates.

The Conservative Party of Britain, as much as the Labor Party, still believes in Joseph Chamberlain's dream of restricted and protected prosperity. By the decisions of Britain and the sterling nations at Torquay, British policy must continue to clash with the policy of Canada. Canada will continue to protest against British discrimination against Canadian goods and, worst of all, the United States will be discouraged in its policy of opening its markets wider to the world and increasing the total volume of trade and prosperity.

Municipal Costs Going Up

WITH THE POSSIBLE EXCEPTION of Oak Bay, which may be able to hold its 1951 mill rate at or near the 1950 level by using part of its reserve funds, taxes in Greater Victoria municipalities will be higher this year. Already Esquimalt has announced a jump of seven mills. Victoria is struggling with estimates which repudiate Mayor George's optimistic first-of-the-year forecasts of a reduction. Saanich is starting a budget which shows an increase of five mills in the school board requirements alone.

Oak Bay stands to benefit by utilizing the earnings and part of the principal of special funds it set aside from tax sale land revenue. Use of such money for capital expenditure is permissible and may allow the municipality to furnish sufficient revenue from taxation to meet higher service costs without materially increasing the rate. In other words, Oak Bay may apply the principle of the cyclical budget to its advantage.

Whatever the outcome of that municipality's decisions, the point is apparent that municipal costs are rising. Saanich, though deferring the levy for its sewer loan, is admitting the obvious: that urbanization is costing more money as services are required. Esquimalt's position, despite meagre relief from Ottawa, is financially critical.

Under these circumstances the argument for more efficient administration under a metropolitan plan grows stronger. Amalgamation would not necessarily cut costs. It would, however, provide an opportunity for the different groups in Greater Victoria to plan their development and integrate their services in a way which would provide more for their money. The old bugaboo of mill rate differentials is losing its importance.

Blue Yonder Getting Wilder

LOCAL AND NATIONAL EVENTS and the larger moves of world politics have tended to obscure the gradual development of a new phase of the war in Korea—large-scale fighting in the air. A few months ago the only references to air warfare were the accounts of United Nations' bombing and reconnaissance flights, with an occasional mention of isolated enemy fighters being seen. But slowly the stories have become more frequent and insignificant. Today come reports of B-29 losses.

At first Russian MIG jet fighters were seen in twos and threes, avoiding combat. Then a few dogfights occurred. The length of the battles and the numbers of aircraft involved increased week by week. Now we read that the greatest jet fighter engagement in history has taken place, with some 220 aircraft taking part. Such news accounts are reminiscent of the battles of the last war, when massed fleets were thrown at Britain, and repulsed. But more important, they indicate that substantial Russian help of a serious nature is being given to the Communist forces in Korea.

Although the upper hand appears to be held by American air forces at the moment, it would seem that the days of unchallenged air supremacy are at an end. Henceforth U.N. movements must be made with full consideration of the need for air protection. The nationality of the enemy air crews is not mentioned in the dispatches. But the average reader might well question at this point: Have we taken another long step toward what may prove to be World War III?

To Distant Fields

ANOTHER CANADIAN ARTISTE HAS added weight to the contention that one of this country's most important exports to the United States is talent. Gisele, the French Canadian singer, has accepted a contract to appear on United States programs and will now make her home in Hollywood. In so doing, she adds her name to a long list of actors, actresses, singers, musicians, comedians and others who have made their name in the entertainment field in Canada before being drawn to the larger opportunities of the neighboring republic. Mary Pickford, Ned Sparks, Deanna Durbin, Yvonne de Carlo, Barbara Ann Scott, Allan Young are only a few in the very long roster.

There appears to be no solution to this state of affairs. No one could reasonably ask these people to renounce a chance at greater fame and bigger incomes. No one could ask them to turn their backs on the "big time" and lower their aspirations. We can only hope that they will not forget their origins, that they will remain Canadians despite their translation to other fields, and continue to bring new honors to themselves and their native land.

Steadfast As A St. Bernard

IN ANOTHER ERA, JUVENILE READING inevitably included a story of mountaineers lost in heavy snows. It was exciting fiction, with at least one person, usually a woman, alone in the white wastes and overcome by exhaustion.

But the story had a traditional happy ending. As the storm's victim neared unconsciousness, a lumbering shape came through the curtain of falling flakes. A great St. Bernard, brandy cask strapped to his collar, succeeded where search parties failed. Once again the magnificent canine proved that man's best friend is his dog.

Now comes word from Portland that mountaineers have had to take to the hills to rescue a St. Bernard. The animal, lost four days, was marooned on a rocky ledge, hungry, tired, and afraid to come down. The rescue of the dog was the third of its kind in recent years in that locality.

So perishes another illusion. A breed of Plutos we're breeding now.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

TO SAY that Victoria, at this time of year, is one of the most beautiful cities in the world is to state too obvious a fact. Anyone with ordinary eyesight can confirm it by a walk along our streets. Doubtless there are finer sights in nature where man has not interfered with her handiwork, but where the hand of man has taken over it has seldom been so successful as right here. A census doubtless would show that there are more flowers per capita in Victoria than in any human habitation.

This spring cataract of bloom we accept as a matter of course, as if it had always flowed. In fact it began quite recently. When I was a boy half a century ago, and even when I was a young man, most of the blossoms now bursting in every garden were unknown. They are all new arrivals, and few gardeners remember that they were imported in the form of seeds, with great trouble and expense, from such places as the Himalayas, the Pyrenees, and the Alps.

UNTIL half a dozen Victoria gardeners established them here—all the rock plants and most of the shrubs—a Victoria garden consisted of a few faded irises, a daffodil or two and a dismal holly tree. The ingenuity of man alone decked this place out in its present color. In changing the nature of the landscape man has changed his own. That, more than the look of our gardens, is the important result of Victoria's glorious horticultural lunacy, which has created one tiny spot of sanity in a mad world. Victoria does not differ from other places because it has a garden around every house but because every garden contains a gardener and every gardener inevitably draws sanity from the earth.

THE GARDEN, in fact, is our only real contribution to the human species. If there is any other major local contribution I have not heard of it. Since Sir James Douglas and Amor de Cosmos—both immigrants—we have never produced a notable public figure. We have given the nation one artist, Emily Carr, and no other. No Victorian is greatly distinguished in any of the professions. No Victorian has attained sainthood.

We are not a people who cultivate leaders. But we cultivate something more important, the earth. And our crop, while not spectacular (except to the eye) gives the nation and the world one of their few haunts of quietude and content.

QUITE unconsciously we have achieved our own little civic miracle. It is not, perhaps, so large a miracle as some other places have achieved. We cannot compare it, for example, with Quebec, which has turned out an endless procession of great Canadians from Champlain to St. Laurent; to the little towns of the Maritimes which are always throwing up notable figures from Joseph Howe to Angus Macdonald; to Montreal which has built the only real city in the nation; to Toronto where the beginnings of a true Canadian culture are centred; to Winnipeg and the other prairie cities whose miracle is the mere act of survival against climate and distance. Still, our miracle, if a minor one, is our own and unique.

THE ORIGINS of such things can never be explained. If you ask why it is that all Victorians have turned instinctively to the earth you might as well ask why a prairie town out west suddenly bears a Lincoln, why a west country town in England discovers a Shakespeare on its hands or why a little town in Greece fathers overnight a dozen of the greatest minds of history.

We need not inquire too deeply into the queer chemistry which combined the native earth of Vancouver Island, the rain, sunshine and wind to make Victoria a single garden. We should not, however, overlook that other, chemical element, the sweat of men's brows.

THE INSPIRATION which suddenly impelled all men to start digging by a kind of blind instinct is not to be explained, but the stranger is wrong if he thinks the process was all accidental and effortless. I have been making a rough calculation of man-hours involved and conclude that more labor has gone into the gardens of Victoria in the last quarter century than into the business, industry, professions and arts of the town—and doubtless more brains and imagination also.

The time, energy and sheer artistic thought involved in our gardens is incredible to anybody but a gardener. With a small fraction of this labor we could have built Eiffel Towers, Empire State Buildings, London Bridges, Taj Mahals, Edinburgh Castles, Kremlins or any of the other wonders of the world. Instead, we have poured it all into the soil and built our own wonder. At this season our effort seems to pay off.

WHO would trade our flowered hill-sides for all the skyscrapers of Manhattan, all the bridges of the Thames and the Seine or all the temples of India? What thing of stone and steel, what solid work of man's hand can compare with the blossom of a Victoria boulevard or the fairland of Beacon Hill Park in its first greenery?

Yet, like all the greatest artists, the people of Victoria who have painted this canvas cannot tell you how they did it, are not much impressed with their work and would be surprised to hear that they have done anything extraordinary. This is the proper attitude. Real art is always unconscious, something to live with quietly and not to boast about. Let Mr. George I. Warren do our boasting. Enough for us that we have grown the flowers and thereby received the rarest of all gifts, a quiet mind.

LIQUOR LETTER

May I be allowed to say a letter appearing in your paper last Monday, entitled "Liquor Laws" and written by one Col. R. L. Fortt. Every word in that letter is absolutely and positively correct and let any of the "powers that be" dare to deny it.

It must surely prick their conscience, if they have one, or they must either be very hard boiled or profoundly ignorant.

Alas! I fear that the right type in this country are in the minority and even so, we are under dictatorship, so these letters do absolutely no good in any case. Nevertheless, I intend sending copies to four prominent men I happen to know in four British countries. It might be interesting to hear their opinions. SUBSCRIBER.

BEAUTY, BUT...

To one who left Calgary on the first train west after the big blizzard of March 15 and 16 (36 hours late) the charming beauty of your fair city is incredibly fantastic! To me, 66 years old, British born, 44 years resident in western Canada, never able to go "home," even for a visit, the Old Country architecture of your Parliament Buildings and the magnificent Empress Hotel bring nostalgic memories of the land which to me is still "home."

I hope and pray that no enemy from within or without will ever be able to destroy or mar in any way this incredible beauty.

But (and in this world there is always a but) a walk around your Parliament Buildings and the immediate vicinity, noting the signs on the doors, bureau of this, that, or the other thing, noting also the new office building, makes me wonder at the incredible stupidity of the Canadian people in allowing their governments to get so far out of line as they are now!

"Government of the people, by the people, and for the people!" Ye gods and little fishes!

The King (I beg your pardon) the government can do no wrong, and those who do their duty and dare to protest (Mrs. Rolston and Mr. Bennett for instance) are condemned and branded as "traitors," not to Canada but to the government! SHOCKED.

Some Plain Speaking

Developments of the past few weeks in British Columbia compel sane thinking men to admire the firm stand taken by Premier Johnson and his Coalition Cabinet. In Coalition, as in all political parties, we find the usual group of disgruntled would-be-big-shot ward politicians who are more at home with the wrecking crew than with the construction department.

The present Coalition Government is the first construction crew we have had for many years. It has started projects that other governments have been afraid to tackle. Premier Johnson, when a private member, challenged the Hart administration to borrow and do something with the P.G.E. Railway. Nothing was done, but when Johnson took over the job something was done that should have been started years ago.

Taking the long view, the Coalition tackled the old P.G.E. hospital insurance, highway construction and other matters of vital importance to this rapidly growing province. We should back them up as they strive to iron out the many difficulties that are bound to be encountered in new and important projects.

APPRECIATION

We would like Mr. Brock to know how we enjoy his forthright and extremely sensible column. The recent one on gambling and the one on voting could only have been written by a man with a load of intelligence. TWO ROCKLAND SUBSCRIBERS.

MOTHER PROTESTS

Don't the administration of the H.I.S. know that if they would feed the mothers in hospital, the mothers could nurse their children, thus saving the hospital the $4 a day they must spend on milk.

It would also save the parents a lot of drug bills later, so that we can afford to pay more hospital insurance. "A NEW MOTHER."

SHOE ON OTHER FOOT

It is ironical and amusing to see the British Labor Government protesting to the Iranian Government re the Iranian nationalization of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company.

To date the British Labor Government has nationalized so many things that to make the above protest must, to say the least, be embarrassing. FRANK H. PARTRIDGE, 151 Beach Drive.

MARGARINE AND DRINK

For nearly 100 years we were prevented from using margarine and now we are able to use same we cannot have it colored. Are we still in our diaper stage? It reminds me of two small girls who had two almost identical dolls given them and quarreled over the different colors of the dolls' eyes.

I have traveled a lot and I have yet to call to mind any remote spot where I could not get a draft-beer except Victoria, where one has to buy a case or bottle and turn their sitting room into a beer parlor.

If even we could get a meal and a glass of cider in a restaurant, I don't like the name cocktail bars, it sounds too expensive. Why not come out flatfooted and call them pubs and be able to buy any sort of drink? Restriction won't cure drinking, so let's be sensible. WALTER DANDRIDGE, Fell St.

The Golden Age Was Limited

By HARRISON SMITH in the Saturday Review of Literature

IT is temptation to regard the time in which we are now living as unique in history. Few can see any escape from a continued state of fearful suspense which can only be ended by war or by agreements in whose permanence we can have little faith.

Nevertheless, a philosopher or an historian might maintain the thesis that man has always lived in the midst of anxiety and doubt, even in years that now seem to us serene, and even romantic.

England had its Dickens, whose books now seem to us so quaint and melodramatic. We now read into the dismal and smoky streets of old London cheerful qualities they did not possess; actually they were crowded with poor and half-starved human beings, whose lives were more miserable than those of any large body of people living in the western world today.

The English countryside was not much better, for the picturesque thatched cottages in villages—and on landlords' estates were poisonously insanitary, damp at all seasons, and deathtraps for the old men and women who crouched in foul weather over small coal fires.

STAND AS SYMBOLS

The old rows of bleak and grim dwellings for workers and miners in the manufacturing and mining towns still stand as symbols of a day when men and children worked themselves to exhaustion for an appalling number of hours a day. It was almost impossible to escape from the class into which you were born or to receive any but the most elementary education. The country was ruled by a rigid and often merciless mercantile and land owning aristocracy, and the people had little influence over parliament.

In their efforts to escape from present ills imaginative people often contemplate other eras and old cities, which they think they would trade without hesitation for this decade of the 20th century. The medieval 12th and 13th centuries, the years of the crusades, the Italian renaissance, and Elizabethan England are favorites—or for the more scholarly, imperial Rome or Athens in its golden years.

DAY DREAMS

It is a pleasant way of day-dreaming, but the dreamer must at the same time inevitably escape from the ranks of the common people to discover himself a man of wealth and position—a nobleman or a famous warrior. Who would care to be a slave in Athens or Rome, a peasant in Elizabethan England, a serf, a laborer, or a common soldier in 15th century Italy?

There were other difficulties in living in earlier days which the romantic must avoid in his dream. There were plagues which swept away whole populations; there were filth and the common diseases for which there was no cure.

Chaucer spoke of himself as an old man at 35, toothless and riddled with smallpox. Children died like flies. The early hospitals were pestholes in which women in childbirth were virtually murdered.

Human bodies were wracked and the soul of man was not at rest. Superstition and sadism were rampant and healthy women, old and young, accused of witchcraft, were tortured, hanged or burned at the stake.

It is true that the catastrophe we face today is as black a menace as any that man has known. But it is not as inevitable as were early death and lifelong misery. We measure our condition by the heights to which we have risen.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"In any company," said the Elevator Man, "one of the best ways to get a laugh is to describe the absurd activities of some distant people or group. Tell us that the ignorant natives of Middle Patagonia all believe it's evil to step in someone else's foot-prints and we give a chuckle of superiority. Tell us that some benighted race in darkest Africa thinks it's bad luck to let the moonlight shine on their hair and we smile with tolerant amusement. Tell us that among the Lower Dimbulbians it's taboo to wear green, and we mingle contempt with our laughter. But tell us today is Friday the thirteenth, and we begin to watch out for trouble. Going down!"

"It's a fact," said the Elevator Man, "the other fellow's beliefs always sound foolish, while ours are a different matter. You can imagine how the Patagonians laugh when they hear that we throw spilled salt over our shoulder. How the darkest Africans must snicker when they're told we won't walk under ladders! And the Dimbulbians must go into fits at our fear of black cats. One man's stupidity is another man's humor. And on that basis we must provide more merriment than any race of people in the world. Going down!"

"It's hard," said the Elevator Man, "to realize that an otherwise rational man will swear that wearing a certain tie brings him 'good luck.' It's perplexing to read that a certain movie actress stayed in bed all day today to avoid danger. Many a Victorian would hotly deny any doubt in the Deity—but carries a rabbit foot or some other charm just in case. We came out of the jungle quite a while back, but there's still a few green leaves in our hair, still a little mud on our feet. We want to be human but we're not yet quite man enough for the job."

Victoria's "Mitzie"—"World's Smallest Dog"

Chihuahua Comfortable Resting In Man's Hand

They're breeding vest pocket-size dogs in Victoria now. John H. Gray, Prospect Lake, today exhibited to a Times reporter a full-grown dog that doesn't weigh much over a pound: one that can stand in the palm of a man's hand. The tiny canine being exhibited here is "Mitzie," a Mexican chihuahua. "Smallest dog in the world," said Gray, of Mitzie.

He added: "I've bred them from nine pounds down to one pound," said the experimental breeder, "and I believe they can be bred down to the size of a mouse. Mitzie's the smallest so far."

Strangely enough, the chihuahua is half rodent, Gray said. Their claws are more like a cat's and can be used for climbing.

The breeder said the Mexican dog is also the world's oldest. The chihuahua appeared sketched on the Mexican pyramids. The Indians used to use them for hunting.

Mitzie is just over a pound in weight now and is seven weeks old. She is almost full-grown now.

Stresses Need For Sacrifice By Individuals

Russian Imperialism and Communism can only be countered by individual effort and sacrifice, even including a lowered standard of living for westerners, Maj. John P. Simon told the Rotary Club Thursday.

Maj. Simon listed several other points to observe in opposing Russian influence.

"The first essential is to help in forming stable governments in other countries irrespective of their political connections," he said.

INDUSTRIAL CHANGE
In addition, he said, the western powers must create an integrated Atlantic force of from 50 to 55 divisions, and prepare industry for a rapid change from peace to war-time basis.

"Since there is no likelihood of war within the next five years," he said, "the change should be made without inflation."

The west must also arrive at a definite policy for the Far East, and combat Communist propaganda by telling eastern people what will be done for them, Maj. Simon added.

"We shouldn't be telling them how we live," he said emphatically. "We should be telling them how they are going to live."

Retired Servants Receive No Bonus

Hopes of retired civil servants for the addition of a cost-of-living bonus on their pensions were dashed Thursday.

Premier Byron Johnson said in the Legislature the government has not been able to see its way clear to pay the bonus.

"We've got to look at these things realistically," he said. There are many other retired persons whose pensions now were not buying as much as they did, and if a bonus was paid one group it should be paid all. But where was the money to come from?

Doctors' Position To Be Examined

One of the duties of a committee of the Legislature to be named to investigate hospital insurance during the coming year will be to examine the position of doctors in the scheme, the Legislature was told Thursday.

Health Minister Douglas Turnbull said he was satisfied the majority of doctors were co-operating in the operation of the insurance service, but he thought the question still should be investigated thoroughly.

Labor Groups Plan New Pay Demands

Unions With 360,000 Members To Ask Scale Hitched To Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—A new round of wage-increase demands, hitched to the rising cost of living, may be launched by a large sector of Canadian labor.

Premier Hits Out At Critics Of Coalition

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Premier Byron Johnson paid a surprise visit Friday night to the annual meeting of the New Westminster Liberal Association and, speaking without notes, defended the Coalition government he leads.

The Premier asked his audience to "listen to the story of B.C.—of what's being done" before passing judgment on the government.

He spoke mainly on hospital insurance, saying: "If the only thing my enemies have to hang me on is hospital insurance—I have no regrets."

"All the while this furor is going on," he said, "little people are coming to me saying 'don't stop hospitalization.'"

"They say, 'Yes it's tough to pay, but we can't do without the service.'"

"You can't have the type of hospital insurance you have in B.C. today unless people receiving benefits are willing to pay."

Premier Johnson told why controls had been removed from gasoline.

"I don't like controls," he said. "Oil companies would not invest money in B.C. while we controlled the price of gas."

"A man came into my office the other day wanting to build an oil line to Edmonton following the Canadian National Railway line. The cost would be $85,000,000."

He said also there would be no indirect sales tax for B.C.

Unsuccessful in attempts to get price control, heads of Canadian unions with 360,000 members are to hold an emergency meeting to consider ways of catching up with living costs.

A concerted drive for wage increases by the group—more than one-third of Canada's unionized labor—appeared today as the No. 1 possibility.

The meeting was summoned Thursday by the Canadian Congress of Labor's executive council, on which most of the unions are represented, after they and other labor bodies had been turned down by the government this week in demands for price control presented to cabinet.

Time and place of the session were not settled.

Purpose of the meeting will be to "consider the relationship of wages with regard to prices," the C.C.L. said in a statement, adding the time has come for "further steps to protect the interests of our membership."

There were no immediate indications that other central labor bodies would follow the C.C.L.'s lead. Percy Bengough, president of the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said Thursday night that his organization would leave any wage action up to individual unions.

However, Mr. Bengough noted he had said earlier that the rising cost of living undoubtedly would bring new demands for higher pay.

'Yellow Scab' Held Libelous Epithet

DANVILLE, Va. (AP)—Calling a man a "yellow scab" for working in a plant where a strike has been called constitutes disorderly conduct, Justice Calvin Berry ruled Thursday. He placed William Edward Lloyd, a mill striker, on probation for a year for referring to another employee as a "yellow scab."

JAPS KILLED STILL AT WAR

MANILA (AP)—Five Japanese soldiers, still wearing the tattered uniform of the Imperial army which surrendered more than five years ago, were killed by a Philippine army patrol April 9, national defence headquarters said today. The armed Japanese appeared near a village in the central Philippines. When they refused to heed a command to surrender, the patrol opened fire and killed all five.

HOLIDAY HAPPY

13 Lucky Pats Revel In Furlough In Tokyo

By BILL BOSS

WEST-CENTRAL SECTOR, Korea (CP)—Hauled from the front line without prior notice, 13 men of the Princess Pats Thursday left for a holiday—the first Canadian soldiers to sample leave in the orient since the end of the Second World War. The Canadians have been given a weekly quota of 13 vacationers at the British Commonwealth leave centre in Tokyo.

Word reached the battalion Wednesday. The men chosen were shipped from the line late in the afternoon and sent to a rear echelon for a clean-up before their departure.

The Pats' unheralded leave program dispenses of the first item of the battalion's two major topics of conversation: "When are we going to begin getting leave?" and "How long are we going to stay in Korea?"

The leave party was made up of two men from each of the battalion's six companies, with the 13th an officer in command, Capt. Andy Foulds of Vancouver. Most were members of the advance party which arrived last November. They have been in Korea longest.

The party was taken to the forward "airhead" in a regimental transport and will fly from there in a United States air force troop carrier.

They get five clear days in Tokyo beginning at midnight tonight. They were issued with new battledress, uniforms and medals. When they had shaved, the lucky dozen were different men from those in the line Wednesday.

Flag 345 Years Old

Argentine Holiday Marks End Of La Prensa As Independent

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentine flags waved atop the La Prensa building and lights blazed until dawn today as government forces celebrated their expropriation of the great daily newspaper—caustic critic of President Peron's regime.

The end of the 82-year-old paper as an opposition force came Thursday night when the Senate approved a bill forcing the sale of La Prensa to the Government.

There had been no doubt of the multi-million-dollar paper's fate when the Chamber of Deputies voted 103 to 16 Wednesday to expropriate it. There are no opposition members in the Senate.

Dangerous Driving Brings $500 Fine

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Kerr was fined $500 in police court Thursday on a charge of dangerous driving. Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes also suspended Kerr's driver's license for two years.

It was the second time in two days that the magistrate had handed out stiff penalties on traffic charges. He fined another driver $200 yesterday on a similar charge.

HOME GARDEN

For the past two weeks nearly every home gardener in Victoria has been enjoying his own display of daffodils and those of his neighbors.

During this time they have needed little or no attention beyond some loosening of the soil by gentle hoeing.

The continuous sunshine, however, has brought the first blooms to full maturity, and the bees have played their part, too.

Visiting the blossoms in search of early pollen, they have fertilized the flowers, and the enlarged seed-pods are becoming noticeable as the flowers fade.

And so begins the round of small chores so necessary to ensure good blooms from the same bulbs next spring.

As soon as the blooms of Narcissus (which includes all daffodils) begin to brown at the edges,

Hilda

by Hilda Beasly

and the seed-pod behind the flower is clearly becoming enlarged, nip off the flower head, leaving the stem. This enables the plant to concentrate on development for next year's display, and it also keeps the garden looking neat.

If there is any suspicion of disease among the plants it is a good plan to put the heads in a paper bag and burn the lot. Bulbs of stunted plants should be dug and destroyed as they usually contain the grub of the narcissus bulb fly.

Remember too, that each bulb must be kept growing until the foliage begins to yellow naturally. It is in the coming weeks that next year's flowers are formed in the bulbs. If bone-meal was not used at planting time, dress with a quick-acting potato fertilizer after the blossoms are removed, and water well so that the plant food will be available.

You will be more than repaid with the increase in size and weight of the bulbs when you dig them later on.

VICTORIAN SPRING

by Cecil Maiden

LVIII

They heard the sound of footsteps on the stairs.

They both looked towards the door.

And suddenly, quite unexpectedly, Jervis Braid stood there, Caroline's face pale. He looked at her incredulously, then from one to the other of them, with a puzzled smile.

"This is a surprise, Letty—good-day to you, Caroline."

"Good-day, Jervis."

He turned towards Letty. "I was able to come ashore earlier than I'd hoped. I had to get in here before your children arrived—to ask you if you'd do me the honor of dining with me, between the two classes, at the St. Nicholas? Perhaps you'd give me the pleasure too, Caroline?"

For all her sudden bitterness, and the discovery that these two were on such good terms with each other, Caroline achieved a sweet, withdrawn smile. "I fear not, Jervis. With Letty gone and Amelia out so much these days I have to be very domesticated."

For the moment her speaking part was over. As clearly as if she were following the stage directions of a play, Caroline gave her wistful smile again, and a kindly bow that covered both of them.

"The best of good fortune to you, Letty. You'll hear from me about our little . . . plan. If I were you, I wouldn't trust the Navy with it, not just yet!"

"Goodbye, and . . . thank you, Caroline."

Jervis went to the door and opened it for her. Baffled, and for once at a loss for words, he bowed as she passed through. A faint fragrance of lavender seemed to linger around him as he closed it.

Letty stood over by the row of chairs along the wall. She looked at him intently; tried not to let him see in her face any trace of anxiety.

He came back to her with a quick smile, and raised eyebrows. "What's happened to our Mademoiselle Caroline? I've never seen her like that before. It's almost too good to be true. It probably is too good to be true."

"I wondered myself, Jervis—but . . . oh, please let's not go into it." She drew his attention to the room. "This is my workshop now. Every Friday for the next three months, I've had the floor polished and Mrs. Langley lent me this fine mirror. She even paid Wells Fargo to bring it here."

He looked about the room then back at her.

"Do you approve?" she asked. "Of course I do. Pink suits you."

She managed to laugh again. "I didn't mean of me. Do you approve of the room . . . the arrangement of it?"

"I still say pink suits you."

"What can a girl do with you?"

"Teach me to dance."

"I doubt if you need to learn."

"Even if I didn't, I'd still have a good reason for coming on Fridays."

"I hope a lot of other people are coming too."

"Far too many for my taste. The children I'm not worried about. It's a good thing Amelia's doing the selecting when it comes to the adults."

"Why?"

"I don't think that trusting little head of yours realizes the kind of gentry we have walking up and down that street outside."

"Do you think I'll be shot, then—or merely scalped?"

"I think you're beautiful."

"Trouble indeed!"—unconsciously, as she smiled at him, she was fingering the cameo brooch.

"I like the way you do that."

"Do what?"

"Haven't you noticed? You often do it. When you get a little excited, you run your fingers round the edge of that little brooch of yours."

She looked down at it, then unpinned it, and they examined it together.

"It belonged to mother. It's a very beautiful cameo—it's really a likeness of mother herself, done in Italy. The back of her hair is chipped a little, if you look closely. But it's the dearest thing in the world. I think I'd die if I lost it."

"She must have been a lovely woman, your mother. Even in a small white cameo that's obvious."

There was the sound of more footsteps on the stairs. It sounded like many feet, this time.

It was Amelia opened the door and let five children, including Meg and Dugald, into the room in front of her. The twins spotted Letty and rushed into her arms. Amelia took off her wraps, shook herself free of children and disapproved of Jervis all in the same moment.

"Your time, Mr. Braid, is eight o'clock tonight, if you'll pardon me, sir! And now we've got a lot of work to do."

PEERLESS HEAVY DUTY MOTOR OIL CONTAINS DETERGENTS JUST AS MODERN SOAPS

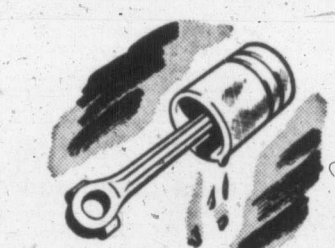

Modern washday detergents have successfully washed clothes cleaner and have done away with "soap scum". Now, detergent additives have been added to motor oil.

You could actually wash your hands with the detergents that have been added to the new Heavy Duty Motor Oils. Just as these detergents free dirt from your hands, they free sludge, carbon and varnish from vital engine parts.

You have noticed how a non-detergent soap leaves a ring around the bathtub in hard water! So too, a motor oil without detergent additives allows harmful deposits to accumulate on cylinder walls, piston rings and other engine parts.

After using a modern washday detergent in your washing machine you have seen how the dirt is drained off in the water when the tub is emptied! In the same way, sludge, carbon and varnish are held in harmless suspension in the oil and drained away when your crankcase is emptied . . . leaving a cleaner motor.

Today's high compression motors must be kept clean internally for peak performance. New Peerless Heavy Duty Motor Oil is B-A's answer to the lubricating demands of these motors. Peerless Heavy Duty contains special detergent-dispersant properties that actually "wash your motor while you drive". And it lubricates completely. For late model cars, heavy duty oil is a must. In all models, Peerless Heavy Duty Motor Oil means finer engine performance, longer engine life.

IN COURT

SAANICH

Ten motorists nabbed for speeding paid $150 of the $385 in traffic fines collected in court Thursday afternoon.

Fine of $40 was imposed against William Newman, 945 Inverness, when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving. He was restricted to driving for business purposes only for two months.

Pleading guilty to a charge of failure to have a 1951 driver's license while in control of a vehicle, Mew Chew, of 738 Pembroke, was fined $25.

Robert J. Saunders, 3977 Rainbow, was fined $40 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving.

John H. A. Rees, 31 Maquinna, pleaded guilty to careless driving and was fined $40. His license was suspended.

Stanley Roland Fletcher, 576 Leaside, convicted on a charge of drunken driving, was sentenced to 14 days in jail. Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed a total license suspension for three months. He can only drive for business purposes for the following nine months.

GIBRALTAR (AP)—The United States is showing a mailed fist in the Mediterranean this spring, warning Russia against aggression in Yugoslavia, Germany or the Middle East.

The U.S. Navy has some of its finest ships in this strategic 1,000,000-square-mile area traditionally regarded as a British sea.

Its strength is nearly double what might be considered normal and is the most powerful peacetime unit the U.S. has had in these waters.

It includes two new aircraft carriers, an escort carrier, three new heavy cruisers, a fast light cruiser, 27 modern destroyers, and numerous supporting ships. Its commander, Vice-Admiral M. B. Gardner, says the fleet is in the Mediterranean to support U.S. occupation forces in Europe and to support U.S. policy.

The British, French and Italian navies are co-operating in joint defence planning of the area under the North Atlantic treaty organization. Lack of funds has cut back British naval forces. The Italian and French navies are mostly ineffectual remnants of pre-war fleets.

The U.S. Sixth Fleet has operated in the Mediterranean since 1946. It has grown so that the Mediterranean has become a more important training ground than the Pacific and Pearl Harbor.

C.C.F. Chief Urges C.P.R. Taken Over

Coldwell Would Have It Run By Government In Opposition To C.N.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's transportation problems already the subject of a searching two-year Royal Commission inquiry, came under a Commons scrutiny Thursday.

Opposition and Government members, debating Transport Department estimates, aired their views on transportation difficulties and centred much of their comment on the recent report of the Royal Commission on transportation.

A number of Opposition members suggested something would have to be done to regulate the trucking industry, and warned that the railroads, if they continued to raise freight rates, would lose their business to the trucks.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, expressed belief that the privately-operated Canadian Pacific Railway eventually will come under public control, though not through a merger with the Canadian National Railways. He would have it operated by a separate body.

In the opening stages, the chamber gave first reading to a government bill empowering Transport Minister Chevrier to make zoning regulations for construction projects near airports. They would regulate the height of chimneys and other structures.

Trade Minister Howe told the House that housing and residential construction generally will not be affected by the government's budget decision to hold up depreciation allowances for four years.

H. H. Hatfield (P.C.-Victoria-Carleton, Ont.) suggested there should be uniform regulations for trucks across Canada.

John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre, Sask.), supported by other western farmers, urged the government to give greater encouragement to the Hudson Bay route.

COPENHAGEN (AP)—A joint Danish-American treaty on the defence of Denmark's huge Arctic island of Greenland has been drafted and is now being studied by the two governments. It was believed that Denmark will undertake the naval defence of the island. The air defence will remain in the hands of the Americans.

GOVERNMENT REITERATES STAND

Will Not Extend Privileges To Private Schools' Pupils

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Coalition member for Yale, got support only from W. A. C. Bennett, new Independent from South Okanagan, in arguing to the Legislature Thursday that privileges given children attending public schools should be made available to students of Catholic and other private schools.

The country doctor suggested the recent closing of two Catholic schools at Maillardville, near New Westminster, was the result of the government's refusal to supply bus transportation for the children attending them.

There were about 800 pupils in the two schools who now were crowding the public schools of the district.

Why weren't these Catholic children entitled to bus transportation to their schools the same as the children attending public schools, he asked.

Bennett moved to his side with another question: Is there any difference between supplying the public schools text book rental plan to private schools and the extension of bus transportation for students of private schools?

Neither received support from a private school owner and teacher, Capt. D. J. Proudfoot of Victoria, who said he did not favor text book and transportation assistance from the government for schools other than those coming under the government's jurisdiction.

He could see the government imposing restrictions on private schools if they were brought under its scope in any way, shape or form, and the Malvern House owner didn't like that idea.

Police Commission Plans Wage Meet

Police Commission at a special meeting Thursday agreed to meet with representatives of the Victoria Local of Police Federal Union to hear their wage requests.

A difference of opinion arose at the outset when Mayor Percy George stated, for his part, negotiation would have to be on the basis of the wage requests put to the commission last November. They were $30 a month across the board.

Commissioner James Neely argued the union would have to make new requests.

The commission agreed to open the police agreement on moral grounds since the police had received no wage increases in compromise with the commission. Subsequently, however, fire department and inside staff were granted increases by conciliation.

Freighter Freed On Oregon Coast

SEATTLE (UP)—The Coast Guard reported Thursday that a 2,100-ton freighter which ran aground on the southern Oregon coast, has been freed and towed to port.

The S.S. Karen Olson ran aground this morning at the mouth of the Coquille River at Bandon, 10 miles from Coos Bay, Ore.

A commercial tug pulled the vessel free several hours later and towed it to Bandon.

Gen. Bradley Criticizes Eisenhower, Montgomery

NEW YORK (CP)—Both Dwight Eisenhower and Viscount Montgomery come in for criticism by Gen. Omar N. Bradley in his new book about the Second World War.

A condensed version of Bradley's book, "A Soldier's Story," is running in Life Magazine in serial form. Bradley, now chairman of the United States Joint Chiefs of Staff, served in the last war under Eisenhower, Supreme Allied commander.

He criticizes Eisenhower and Montgomery, then Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, for their silence during the uproar in Britain when Montgomery relinquished his temporary command as ground commander of the Allied forces which invaded Europe.

Bradley says that British newspapers, knowing nothing of the original agreement for eventual parity between Monty's 21st Army Group and the 12th U.S. Army Group, said Monty had been slurred.

"Had he (Eisenhower) met the issue head-on with an announcement of his plan to provide equality for both the British and American field commands, he might have avoided this ridiculous friction," says Bradley.

"Although we remained aloof from this British press fracas, I was disappointed that Monty did not squelch it. He could have easily enlightened the British newsman in an off-the-record explanation of our plans for ground command. At the risk of being unjust to Monty, I could only conclude that he did not wish to."

Bradley also blames Montgomery for failure to close the false gap in France through which 17 nearly-trapped German divisions escaped.

MAY RENAME MT. EVEREST

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—New movements are on foot to change the name of the five-and-a-half-mile high unconquered Mt. Everest.

A group of Nepalese suggests its name should be Sagar Matha—"Head High Up in the Sky"—by which they claim it has long been locally known.

A Chinese Communist magazine proposed Chu-Mu-Lang-ma, Tibetan name meaning "Peak of Sacred Mother's Spring."

The Indians favor the present name of Everest, "in the absence of any indubitable local name."

There is an urgent need for skilled tradesmen to man the workshops of this vitally important corps of "soldier-tradesmen". Skilled craftsmen are required to fill the posts of automotive mechanics, fitters, toolmakers, radar and radio technicians, instrument makers, welders, watchmakers, machinists and other key jobs.

If you qualify as a skilled tradesman, there's a place for you in the R.C.E.M.E. You can serve now—when Canada needs you—as an expert "soldier-tradesman".

To enlist in the R.C.E.M.E. you must:

1. Be a Canadian citizen or British subject.
2. Be between 17 and 40 years of age.
3. Be single.
4. Meet Army test requirements.

By JOHN LARDNER

You know, friends, what a psychological block is. It is not a city area bounded by four streets and inhabited entirely by people of Psychological-American descent. Nor is it a square wooden toy which thinks it is President Garfield instead of a square wooden toy. A psychological block is a thing that keeps a sports writer from picking any pennant winners but the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Red Sox. It's a mighty like crying a few tears for this victim, why, do so.

Lardner

I first discovered I had the affliction when my psychiatrist, a fellow named Lefty, who sells $5 mutual tickets as a sideline, gave me a word-association test one afternoon. "What word comes to your mind when I say American League pennant?" he said. "Boston," I snarled automatically. "National League pennant?" said the doctor. "Brooklyn," I said. "Too bad," said Lefty thoughtfully. "Well, I've done all I can for you. Please do the same for me, and pay my secretary on the way out."

They'll Try For The Old Cigar

Let's not forget that Brooklyn did win pennant in 1947 and 1949. Then, on the last day of 1950, with the score tied in the last half of the ninth inning, the first four Dodgers got on base, but did they score? No. It was close, but no papetela. Remember, too, that the Red Sox won a pennant not long ago. Bicycles had two seats, women wore rats in their hair, and the year was 1946. But it happened.

The time has come to pick pennant winners again. Reason, cold reason, leads me to Brooklyn and Boston. Anyway, I think it's cold reason. But bear in mind, taxpayers, that it's a sick man who addresses you, with a brain that science has asked for waivers on. It should be close in the first division of the National League. The Phillies are not much weaker than last year, when they won (and I made a bet on them, too; I have a weak head, but the heart of a jackal). The Giants are stronger. The Braves have the curious sort of team that can catch fire any year it gets good breaks in luck, because the pitching always keeps it close and ready. On the theory that the Giants (very strong dark horse) haven't gained quite enough ground on the Phillies, I'll make it Phillies second, Giants third, Braves fourth.

Every Pitcher Has Two Arms

Why Brooklyn on top? Well, they have the best club in the league, apart from their pitching—and apart from their pitching is where I'd like to keep this discussion, if I could. Actually, fellows, the Dodgers have lots of pitchers; you'll sometimes see eight or 10 of them in one day. They all have two arms, speaking technically, and if they lose those, they can run or kick. On the hunch that two or three of the younger ones will snap out of it this year in time to help Newcombe and Roe (and manager Dressen, a new manager who likes to be helped), the prediction is:

National League—Brooklyn, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, St. Louis (change of rider), Cincinnati (needed last), Chicago (may improve), Pittsburgh (still last out).

Need Six Guys Named Johnson

In the junior loop, as we writers call the other league for reasons too macabre to discuss, even a man with a psychological block and a pair of horn-rimmed glasses can see that if the Red Sox don't win this time, they never will, hardly ever will. Two pitchers have been added. Six more, all named Walter Johnson, may be necessary, but I'm proceeding on the thought that the two they got, plus Boudreau, can do it. Staff surveys at every town on the road, will plant signs beside the railroad tracks reading "You are now approaching Boston," so that all the Sox who can read will see it and feel good. No stone in short, will be left unturned.

This department fears the Yankees, for traditional reasons, and Cleveland, for practical reasons. The Indians have power, good pitching, and a smart new manager in Al Lopez. Detroit is a nice club, but I don't think it's nice enough to survive the loss of its best pitcher, Houtteman. So:

American League—Boston, New York, Cleveland (could take it all), Detroit, Washington (Cuban entry), Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis (heavy load).

Dick Irvin Gloomy As Richard Aims At Mark

TORONTO (CP)—Dick Irvin, coach of Montreal Canadiens, apparently is not a man to change his propaganda line in mid-series. His utterances before the first game of the Stanley Cup final with Toronto Maple Leafs were definitely gloomy—if artificial.

"No," with Canadians trailing 1-0 in the best-of-seven series as a result of a 3 to 2 overtime setback, Irvin is still unhappy. Most hockey fans will appreciate that it's all psychological strategy designed to build up over-confidence in the enemy camp. The only surprise is that, Irvin is using the same approach. Other coaches change from game to game.

Asked about rumors that Canadiens figure to beat the Leafs, Irvin said: "Nothing to it. Leafs shouldn't have any trouble at all. Absolutely none. They've got plenty of goal-scoring while we have only 'The Rocket'." He then proceeded to support his prediction with a reference to Doug Harvey, ace defenseman. "Bad knee," said Irvin. "Doesn't look like we'll be able to use him."

Joe Primeau, Toronto coach, doesn't think much of this refrain. Fighting off influenza and laryngitis at the team's training camp in St. Catharines, Ont., Primeau was asked what he thought of Irvin's remarks. "Huh," he snorted. "Don't eat that, Elmer. I know Irvin too well. Harvey will be out there, you can bet."

The series resumes here Saturday night, and Maurice (Rocket) Richard will be trying to break the National Hockey League's record. He's only three points away from matching the mark of 62 points set by his retired leftwing linemate, Hector (Toe) Blake, who had 25 goals and 37 assists in 57 playoff games. Richard has played in 51 games and has 39 goals and 20 assists.

St. Mike's Blast Quakers
SASKATOON (CP)—Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs are going home with a comfortable two-game lead in their best-of-seven Alexander Cup semifinal against Saskatoon Quakers.

The mighty St. Mike's blasted the Quakers 4 to 1 here last night for their second successive victory on Saskatoon ice. They won the opener Tuesday 8 to 5. The remaining games will be played at Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens.

Eddie Basinski and Brooks Holder each hit homers to lead the top-spot Portland Beavers to a 4 to 2 victory over San Diego Padres, who hold down second place in the loop.

Pitching Looms As A's Strongest Point

The 1951 edition of the Victoria Athletics looked like a well-knit ball club in their 1 to 0 win over Yakima Bears.

Working well behind the three-hit pitching of Dick Waibel and Ron Smith, "Kewpie" Barrett's men demonstrated the value of spring training in molding a team spirit.

Lilleo Marcucci came through again as one of the staunchest pillars of the squad, steadying Waibel and Smith and hitting a sizzling double to put Gene Thompson in scoring position for the only run of the game. Marcucci's performance was good enough to convince John Ritchey, A's second receiver, that he wasn't interested in playing class B ball. Ritchey is expected to look for a berth on another club.

MARTIN COMING

The Athletics will have a spare receiver, however, in the person of Milt Martin, who will be sent to the A's from Portland before next Friday's opening game at Spokane.

Portland manager Bill Mulligan has also assured Reg Patterson that either Dick Bartle or Hal Jackson will also be available for first-base duty.

When A's break camp and head for Spokane, Barrett will be carrying a roster still loaded with pitchers, but the weeding process is expected to take place immediately thereafter.

The pruning may not be as drastic as Barrett first anticipated, since he hopes to be able to use at least one of his relievers as support in a still-shaky infield.

Clippers Even Puck Series With Canadians

Clovechok Gets Overtime Winner

FORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP)—Nanaimo Clippers and Fort Frances Canadians are all square in their best-of-seven western Allan Cup final as the series moves to Winnipeg.

Nanaimo bounced Canadians, 4 to 3, in overtime here last night in the second game, after dropping the opener, 7 to 2. Third game will be at Winnipeg Saturday night.

Strengthened by the return of Jack Kirk, defenceman and captain, Nanaimo boosted their rating by continuing the pattern of their previous playoff series. The Nanaimo club had lost the opener of all other series, only to come back to win out.

Andy Clovechok bagged the winner at 7:45 in overtime after the Clippers had twice come from behind to even the match. Don Culley, Hebbly Lundmark and Jack O'Hara were the other Nanaimo marksmen. Vern O'Donnell, Bob Fero and Willie Tomlinato scored for the Forts, finalists in western Allan Cup play in 1949 and 1950.

Summary follows:

First Period—1, Fort Frances, O'Donnell (Shannon), 13:15. Penalties: Warwick, Fennell, Fedoruk.
Second Period—2, Fort Frances, 2 Pts. 3:25; 3, Nanaimo, Culley (Conway), 9:55; 4, Nanaimo, Lundmark (O'Hara), 19:45. Penalties: Shannon, Carr.
Third Period—5, Fort Frances, Tomlinato, 13:11; 6, Nanaimo, O'Hara (Waldriff), 15:35. Penalties: Kirk, Waldriff, Conway.
Overtime Period—7, Nanaimo, Clovechok (Conway, Shannon), 7:45. Penalty: Fedoruk.

Pats Lead In Western Final

REGINA (CP)—Regina Pats, their sights lined for another shot at the Memorial cup, last night downed Winnipeg Monarchs 3 to 1 in the first game of their best-of-seven series for the western junior hockey championship.

Pats, who lost out to Montreal Canadiens in the Dominion junior final last year, are trying for their second successive western title—a feat never before accomplished by a western club.

The second game of the play-off will be played here Saturday night. If Monarchs win, a third game will be played here Tuesday. Otherwise the third and remaining games will be played in Winnipeg.

Cats-Royals Go Tonight

Home-Ice Edge Favors Locals In Fifth Game

Friday, the 13th, holds no fears for the Cougars as they ready themselves for the fifth game of the Pacific Coast Hockey League finals against New Westminster Royals at the Memorial Arena tonight at 8:30.

And the reason is that the Cougars, besides holding a 3 to 1 edge in games over the Royals, also hold a physiological advantage over Babe Pratt's squad.

The Royals, who must win tonight to prolong the series to a sixth game in Westminster, Saturday, have not won a game on Victoria ice this season in nine starts. The best the defending champs could muster during the year was two ties.

LEGER CONFIDENT

Coach Roger Leger of the Cougars is quite confident it will all be over tonight. "We'll take it for sure," he said.

Cougars failed in their bid Wednesday at Westminster to take the set in straight games after winning the first three, but the Royals were due to explode and explode they did in that game winning 7 to 3.

Defensive lapses and an early Royal lead of 3 to 0 led to the Cougars' downfall in that contest.

Cougars won the opener here last week, 3 to 0; came from behind to take the second in Westminster, 3 to 2, and scored a 5 to 2 victory here on Tuesday.

DEFAULT OUT

Only casualty on either team is Captain Amle Default of the Royals who is lost to his club for the series.

Coach Babe Pratt of the visitors will play tonight. Pratt missed the third game here on Tuesday but took part in the fourth game Wednesday.

The game is a sellout once again, at least 100 persons lining Fort Street at 6:30 for the 600 remaining tickets which went on sale at 9. Tickets were sold out by 10.

If a seventh game is necessary in the series it will be played here Tuesday.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

Expecting trouble of a nature that resulted, Operator 13 was detailed to secretly cover Wednesday night's P.C.H.L. playoff tilt between the Cougars and New Westminster Royals.

His report, not received until this a.m. because of slight deviation from duty which consisted of following four blondes seen in company with a Victoria resident (name given upon request) contains a number of interesting facts which may have contributed to the Cougars' downfall in the fourth game of the series, won by Westminster, 7 to 3.

The scribbled message follows:

"As per instructions, I, Operator 13, tailed Lester Patrick from the time he left the Memorial Arena Tuesday night until (as you suspected) he boarded the midnight ferry to the mainland. Being without funds as usual, I was forced to remain behind sniffing the falling tide in the inner harbor, as the Princess xxxxxxxx (deleted for security reasons) pulled away from the dock.

"However, I again caught up with the suspect in Vancouver Wednesday and despite his multitude of disguises managed to keep him in view until he was seen crawling in a window at Queens Park Arena shortly before game time.

Lester Pulls A Sandy

"This whetted my lust as I knew that said suspect was there for only one purpose—to see the Cougars win the championship. But also having previous knowledge that said individual—Lester Patrick—had never seen the Cougars win at Queens Park, I took the liberty of wagering a fin on the Royals. This, plus the presence of the blondes partly explains my tardiness in delivering this report, which I trust—being only human after all—will be excused.

"When I again picked up Mr. Patrick he was sequestered behind the third pillar on the east side of the arena. And for good reason, too. The Cougars were trailing 5 to 1, and Mr. Patrick, attempting to remain incognito, was rapidly devouring his second deck of Mr. Abbott's 41 cent fags.

"It wasn't long thereafter that Mr. Patrick disappeared, and I, feeling my duty complete, took up a strategic position from which I could better observe the blondes. They were the only objects deserving of attention at this stage of the proceedings, the game already being lost.

Even Worse Than Section Seven

"However, I feel it only right that it should be noted that Victoria fans have not yet reached the stage that has overtaken the barley addicts at Queens Park. Though not nearly as rabid as the Saturday night sud swallowers, these Royal fans have added a new twist. They not only hurl programs, papers and other missiles of a harmless nature on the ice but they make life extremely dangerous for the players by showering the ice surface with staples (nails to you).

"And furthermore, there's one group in particular even worse than our own 'Terrible Section Seven,' (soon to be replaced by the fast-degrading Section 21) who spend most of their time leaning over the boards, swinging at every Cougar who comes within arm's reach, not to mention showing a complete disregard for the well-being of the officials.

"This is a personal note but you may use it if you wish in the report. 'Cafeman Jack Cooper, who was quoted by radio-caster Ted Reynolds as being in Portland with his wife when his wife was in Victoria, wishes for some unknown reason that it be published that he WASN'T with his wife in Westminster this particular evening.'

Better He Should Stay Home

"Feeling remorseful after an unsuccessful sortie in trying to gain an introduction to the blondes, I felt it was my duty to check and see if Mr. Patrick's trip to the mainland was really necessary. And frankly I don't think it was, for on Thursday morning I found the grey-corded Cougar owner out in his garden pulling weeds.

"In closing I would like to recommend that if another game is necessary in this series in New Westminster that Mr. Patrick be petitioned to remain in his garden pulling weeds. Otherwise he will have half of Victoria pulling their hair."

"P.S. Just learned that the big reception planned for the Cougars at the Memorial Wednesday which had to be canceled will be held immediately following tonight's game if... Would appreciate it if four tickets could be obtained for the contest. An introduction to the fellow who knows the blondes will follow receipt of the tickets, plus the necessary expenses. A fin doesn't go very far these days."

(Editor's note: Operator 13 will cover the activities of Section 21 at tonight's game. To be forewarned is to be forearmed.)

TITLE MATCHES BILLED

Saturday 'Big Day' For Juvenile Booters

Next to Christmas, Saturday is going to be the biggest day in the year for a bunch of soccer-playing Victoria youngsters. That's the day they battle for the "big mug", emblematic of the provincial championship.

For the third division Army, Navy and Air Force Vets, the "big mug" means the W. C. Shelley Cup, which will become Victoria property if Jimmy Allan's boys can whip Vancouver's Fraser Farms.

The game will be played on the big pitch at Athletic Park, starting at 10 Saturday morning, and the Vets will have a full crew on hand.

Headed up by Captain Norman Curran, the team includes Robert Harrison, Noel Boston, Edward Harrison, Mace McMillan, Douglas Jones, Ronald Thornthwaite, Duncan McCall, William Abbott, Chris Osselt, George Robbins, George Bridges, Denis Atkinson, Ronald Houlihan, Merrill Todd and Keith Todd.

AT BEACON HILL

In the afternoon two Argosy Cafe teams will test the mettle of mainland elevens. At 12.30, in lower Beacon Hill, Argosy Cafe, division four, will take on Vancouver's Universal Smoke Shop outfit for the Hitchens Memorial Trophy; and at 2, Argosy Cafe Pee Wees will tackle the Dayton Loggers at lower Beacon Hill.

The two Cafe teams have been practicing assiduously and playing each other in exhibition tilts for the past two months in preparation for the provincial games.

On his Pee Wee line-up, man-

Hey, Leggo!

This began as a legitimate check by Clover Leaf's brilliant Jack Pomfret (22). Toronto Tri-Bells' Sharpe Litvack was well pinned to the floor when the referee's whistle sounded. The action occurred in early stages of the final game of the best-of-five Canadian senior men's basketball championship series in Vancouver Wednesday. Leafs won the series in straight games to capture their fourth Dominion title.—(CP Photo).

NO DECISION YET

Tennis Nationals Here If Terms Are Accepted

There is still no definite word on whether the Canadian lawn tennis championships will be staged in Victoria according to officials of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Association.

The local club has indicated a willingness to have the championship series played here if they are played in conjunction with the B.C. championships, set for early in August. The nationals were scheduled by the C.L.T.A. for late in August.

The terms are considered necessary to assure the financial guarantees asked for the tournament, and to eliminate as far as possible any uncertainty with regard to weather, which could have a drastic effect on spectator attendance.

Wanderers To Meet Bays In Rugby Final

The J.B.A.A. rugby squad will meet Oak Bay Wanderers at Macdonald Park tomorrow afternoon in the annual Cowichan Cup play. Originally a knockout event, the cup play this year will be a sudden-death affair owing to the default of Victoria College Vikings, who have been prevented from competing because of spring examinations.

Bays will also represent the city in Vancouver for the Rounsfeld Cup, emblematic of the provincial championship. The game will be played at the end of the month.

No decision has been made by the Victoria Rugby League executive on a Vancouver invitation to send two teams to participate in the annual mainland seven-a-side tournament.

Saturday's game at Macdonald Park will start at 2.30.

CAMBRIDGE FAVORED TO TAKE SCULLING EVENT

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale and Cambridge came up today to the final workout for their international crew race with the British shell ruling a slight favorite.

Harold Rickett, London stockbroker coaching the Cambridge shell, is standing fast on the combination that defeated Oxford by nearly 15 lengths.

Rickett is new to American coaching methods but he has quickly picked up American coaching lingo. Says he: "My only hope is that we can give Yale a good race."

Says Rickett: "Cambridge is a fine rowing crew and works well together."

Saturday's 1½-mile race on the Housatonic River at 4 p.m., E.S.T., matching a British university shell against an American on this side of the Atlantic for the first time, is expected to draw more than 25,000 to Derby, Conn.

DISTRICT SOCCER LINE-UP CHANGED

City Club To Meet United In Annual Solarium Cup Match Saturday Afternoon

Manager Charlie Lewis of the Victoria and District All Stars has made two changes in his line-up for tomorrow's Solarium Cup soccer match with Victoria United.

Lewis declared his team "is the best that district teams can field, and it's mighty good."

Moss of the Vets will replace Esquimalt's Hardy in goal, and Ron Woolcock of Wests will be used in place of Ken Druce, who is unavailable.

The remainder of the team includes Cliff Robbins, Ken Griffin, Tom Fallon, Jim Davidson, Herman Henry, Ralph Thorne, Eugene Thorne, Freddy Johnson, Bill Hope, Bernie Clarkson, Alex Walker and Glen Underwood.

The match will be played at Athletic Park at 2.30 tomorrow

TIME OUT! By Jeff Kestle

There is no likelihood of such a thing in the future," said Russell Kingman, president of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association, ruling body of the amateurs.

"It would be a great boon to the game," commented Bobby Riggs, promoter of the professional net tours.

Edward Herr of Miami, Fla., an official of the Florida Tennis Association, has written Kingman suggesting a "limited controlled open." Involving the 16 top professionals and 16 top amateurs.

His idea is to give half the gate and television receipts to the pros and the other half, less expenses, to the 14 sections composing the U.S.L.T.A.

BASKETBALL PRESENTATIONS

Presentations of Saanich and Suburban Basketball League trophies will take place at the Saanich Agricultural Hall Saturday evening at 8.30. A total of 10 cups and other awards will be made to captains of winning teams.

DENIES REPORT

LONDON (AP)—Lt.-Col. A. T. (Goldie) Gardner said Wednesday there is no foundation in fact for the announcement he plans to go to the Bonneville (Utah) salt flats in an attempt to set an automobile speed record.

There was a general feeling among the experts that last year's pennant triumph by the Philadelphia Phillies was a fluke, only 18 of them foresaw a repeat job by Eddie Sawyer's "Whiz-Kids." The Boston Braves received the remaining 14 first place votes.

Long life and lovely lustre in a lasting finish "with that's what is offered with P. & L. paints, enamels and varnishes, the choice of the professionals.

Borsts Could Make History

Portland Couple Reaches Empress Golf Semifinals

Possibility that a man-and-wife combination might make history in the Empress Hotel golf tournament loomed today as R. L. Borst of Portland teed off in the semifinals of the Sir Edward Beatty men's handicap event, and Mrs. Borst battled Mrs. J. H. Todd in the semifinals of the ladies' handicap.

The two major events of the Empress tourney have never fallen to a man-and-wife combination, and this is the first time, within the memory of anyone connected with the event, that a man and his wife have reached the semis.

Borst is matched today with another Portland man, Dr. B. L. Titus, for the right to enter tomorrow's finals. In the other semifinal bracket Victoria's lone survivor, Vic Painter, is paired with C. B. Francis of Seattle.

Mrs. Borst is the only American remaining in the women's handicap championship. If she succeeds in getting by Mrs. J. H. Todd, she will meet either Elizabeth Paynter of Colwood or Mrs. A. C. Patrick of Vancouver in the finals. Miss Paynter eliminated club mate Mrs. W. H. Lawson yesterday to enter today's semifinal round against Mrs. Patrick.

The open amateur final, to be played today, will see Vic Painter and Bill McColl, both of Colwood, battle it out for the title. Painter has won the open three times in the last five years. McColl won last year.

No Change In Government Contribution To Pensions

Applause came from both sides of the Legislature Thursday when Education Minister W. T. Straith announced the government will not reduce its contribution to teachers' pensions this year.

Both C.C.F. members and government backbenchers pounded their desks on the announcement which the Victoria Times predicted several days ago.

Mr. Straith said it had been decided to continue paying 7 per cent, instead of 6 per cent, of salaries to the teachers' service pension until a full investigation had been made of the pension scheme.

It was intended, he added, to assist the teachers in the coming year to overhaul the pension set-up to place it on a better basis. He indicated pensions may be paid on a salary basis rather than have all teachers receive the same pension from the service fund regardless of the salary they were receiving on retirement.

New Bowling Alleys Open Tomorrow

At 8 p.m. Saturday night, H. B. "Barney" Olson, well-known Victoria businessman, will open his latest venture, the Strathcona Bowling Alley and Billiard Centre.

The bowling alleys will be part of a $210,000 development Mr. Olson has made at the corner of Courtney and Douglas Streets, adjacent to his Strathcona Hotel.

FIVE STORES

It includes five modern stores facing Douglas Street, a parking lot for hotel patrons, and the modern bowling alleys and billiard room directly under the parking lot.

They will be reached by the main entrance on Courtney Street.

No expense has been spared. The 12 alleys were laid by Brunswick Balke Collender, leading bowling equipment firm in Canada.

Each alley, which cost $3,600 to install, will be equipped with a "Tel-E-Foul," an electronic device that indicates immediately when a player steps over the foul line by ringing bells and flashing lights.

Fluorescent lighting has been used throughout, and furnishings are in hardwood.

A refreshment bar has been placed at the rear of the alleys, and an air-conditioning plant will provide six complete changes of air per hour in both the bowling area and the up-to-date three-table billiard room.

"I hope women will become interested in billiards," Mr. Olson said. "I am going to encourage them to play, and will also encourage them to bowl in the afternoons."

Only bowling shoes will be worn to bowl, and for patrons who have not their own shoes will be available for rent.

One feature of the new building are five landscape photographs in full color of Victoria and Vancouver Island scenes. Each measures three by five feet, and all were prepared by George Simpson.

Dick Jones, who gained his experience on the mainland, will head the staff of nine in the bowling centre and billiard room as manager.

Oldsters Urged To Work Longer

LONDON (Reuters) — The government has announced plans for encouraging old people to work beyond their minimum pensionable age—65 for men, 60 for women. An increase in pension rates, announced in the budget yesterday, will apply only to men of 70 and over and women of 65 and over. In addition, those who work beyond minimum retirement ages will qualify for higher rates of pension when they do retire.

FEAR OF LAW RUINED AUTO

THREE RIVERS, N.M. (AP)—Kersey Hatch, bulldozer operator, heard the second-hand car he bought might be "hot."

He dug a big hole, drove the car into it, shoved the dirt on top and tamped it down solidly with the big tractor. But someone saw him and notified police.

The crushed car was jerked out of its grave for an autopsy.

Then the investigation disclosed the title was clear, and his fears were unfounded. But all he could salvage was the engine.

Never Under-Estimate The Power Of A Woman

This unidentified New York City woman-detective, passing a downtown building, noticed two suspicious-looking youths who fled at her approach. She looked the situation over and succeeded, after a chase in arresting the pair. Here, she holds them at gunpoint to await arrival of the patrol wagon from headquarters.

Decreases Delinquency

MONTREAL (CP)—A grimy-faced seven-year-old boy walked into Royal Canadian Mounted Police headquarters here and without needing directions sought out the officer he wanted.

To a constable he said "Jim—Mum said I should ask you can I join a cub pack."

"Jim" is Const. James Archer, and the youngster is one of many he has met in the course of his duties with the R.C.M.P.'s youth program.

Youngsters drop in almost daily to talk to Archer. Some want to talk about getting a job after school or about opening a savings account. Some are in trouble and think "Jim" can help them. Some just come in for a chat because this policeman is their pal.

Const. Archer is one of many R.C.M.P. officers in various main centres who are working full time with youth.

Objects of the program are to create a greater appreciation of good citizenship and to give the children a genuine respect for Canadian laws and the agencies charged with enforcing them.

The constables use the glamour associated with the R.C.M.P. to put across the principles the service groups are trying to teach.

Archer said "we try to reach these youngsters before they can become delinquents. We don't want to have to chase them when they grow up. We want to be their friends."

"Get rid of the idea of 'cop haters' and you can get rid of possibly 25 per cent of crime."

Besides talks and movies and the personal guidance that seems to have come about by itself, the R.C.M.P. operates a vocational guidance committee in conjunction with its reserve force. Members of the reserve organize plant tours whereby youngsters are shown the operations of various industries.

"The idea is not so much to amuse the kids as to show them what Canada has to offer them if they prepare themselves properly," said Const. Archer.

Yugoslavs Press Action Against Reds In Europe

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UP)—Reports of "purges" and plots in Soviet-dominated countries have stirred Yugoslavia into action.

Appeals to the eastern peoples, as distinct from their Communist rulers, have been a normal part of Yugoslav propaganda when the Cominform threw Marshal Tito out of the organization nearly three years ago.

Until recently the appeals have been little more than wishful thinking.

Now, however, Yugoslav leaders appear to have become convinced that their neighbors are really falling apart at the seams. They feel that the satellites eventually may be persuaded to break away from Russia if enough pressure is applied.

COUNTRY NEEDS HELP

Their conviction stems both from mounting reports of political and economic troubles in the eastern lands and from the gradually shifting balance of power between East and West.

Marshal Tito's increasing willingness to co-operate with the West is based only partly on his country's serious need for help in its battle with the Cominform. He has told several recent visitors that the West is now in a "situation of strength" in relation to Russia.

Foreign Minister Edvard Kardelj, appealing recently to the Russians to reverse their policy of "intimidation and domination," even went so far as to hint that Russia itself might collapse under the weight of its own "imperialism."

Russia's foreign policy, he said, "Not only causes war, but is a worm nibbling at the strength of the Soviet Union itself."

The main Yugoslav propaganda lately has been directed at the basis of Russian power in Europe, the six satellite nations.

The Yugoslav press and radio have hammered away more than usual at reports of purges, unrest and poverty in all the Cominform countries.

The latest target is Hungary. Unusual publicity has been given to a trial of five Yugoslavs accused of spying for Hungary.

MacArthur's Removal Answer To Prayer

REGINA (CP)—Dr. C. H. Woodward of London—medical doctor, former British Conservative M.P. and self-styled Christian pacifist—Wednesday said at a peace council meeting of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's removal:

"We've all prayed that one man should be removed from office because we believed he was an evil man. Tonight I stand here with the prayer answered."

Paris To Show Past Glories In Celebration

PARIS (UP)—This has been chosen as the symbolical year to celebrate the 2001st anniversary of Paris but the date is arbitrary and not historically correct.

Paris was "born" in 53 B.C. when Julius Caesar signed the city's birth act. It was only in 361 A.D. that the city took its present name.

However, historical prejudices will not prevent Parisians from making this year's celebration the most brilliant ever.

The highlights of the celebrations will include theatrical productions with "2,000 years of Paris" as their theme, special exhibits in museums, displays in Paris' most fashionable shop windows representing periods of Parisian life, brilliant illuminations of the city's monuments and floral decorations all over town.

The actual birthday has been set for July 8, a Sunday.

Events will start long before with a swank "gala" on April 11 at which Maurice Chevalier will introduce the "Song of Paris."

TREASURE HUNT

After that, on April 22 comes a city-wide treasure hunt ending up at the foot of the Eiffel Tower.

On April 30 the rich rooms of the Louvre will be decorated with finery by silk experts for "silk night."

On June 3 there will be a huge flower parade down the Avenue de l'Opera, and on June 14 a classical music concert by torchlight in Paris' most ancient and charming square, the Place des Vosges.

On June 16 and 17 a charity sale and then a ball will be held in the famous gardens of the Tuilleries, where Marie Antoinette once walked.

On June 30 the first night of "The True Mystery of the Passions" will be played on the threshold of Notre Dame Cathedral, with a cast of more than 1,000 persons.

Then comes the July 8 "birthday."

In the evening there will be an outdoor ball in the great "Square des Invalides, and a huge fireworks display, representing the story of Paris, to climax the birthday celebrations.

Paris will be 2,001 years old.

U.S. SUB FLEET commander in Pacific starting in May will be Rear Admiral Charles B. Momen, top submarine expert. He has been serving as acting assistant chief of naval operation for fleet readiness in Washington, D.C.

Quarter-Millionth Telephone Installed by B.C. Telephone Co.

Total Doubled in Only 12 Years

The B.C. Telephone Company recently installed its 250,000th telephone, bringing the total number of instruments in service in the system to twice what it was in 1939.

Although it took nearly 60 years to install the first 125,000 telephones, it has taken only 12 years for the second 125,000.

Nearly 90,000 of these new services were installed since the end of the war during a period which saw a record increase in British Columbia's population.

In order to make possible this record telephone increase, millions of dollars were spent on additional central office and outside plant equipment in a vast expansion and improvement program.

The company is continuing this program in an effort to provide service for thousands of waiting applicants in various parts of the system.

However, the total of the projects needed to further expand and improve the system is far beyond the maximum which can be carried out in any one year, and it is necessary to spread the work over a period of years. This condition is general among all large telephone systems in Canada and the United States and is a situation which is not peculiar to the telephone business. The same condition prevails in regard to other essential public services such as roads, streets, housing and sewers, etc.

Coalition Split Over Coloring Of Margarine

McDonnell, MacDougall Lend Support To Bill Calling For Removal Of Ban

A clear split among Coalition backbenchers of the Legislature over the question of allowing margarine to be colored by the manufacturer was seen Thursday.

Six of them spoke on a bill to remove the coloring ban introduced by the new Independent, Mrs. Tilly Rolston, and there were two strong speeches from the Coalition in favor of the legislation.

Debate on the bill was adjourned by E. E. Winch, C.C.F. Burnaby, whose group is expected to back the removal of the color restriction 100 per cent.

Mrs. Rolston said the coloring of margarine by the manufacturer would relieve the housewife of an aggravating chore. She claimed it would not hurt the farmer who was unable to supply the butter requirements of the province.

COLOUR BAN 'SILLY'

Margarine was a necessity and the ban on coloring was "silly and foolish," the woman member said.

Allan McDonnell, Cln.-Vancouver Centre, agreed. B.C. farmers produced only 4,611,000 pounds of the 20,072,100 consumed in B.C. which meant they were assured of a market for their product. It was the farmers importing butter to B.C. who might not ship as much if margarine sales were increased through removal of the color restriction.

McDonnell argued further: "This Legislature has no right in the world to dictate what color the food should be that I eat!" Reg. MacDougall, Cln.-Vancouver Point Grey, said the coloring should be allowed. Present regulations amounted "virtually to a restraint of trade."

OPPOSE BILL
Opposing the bill were Alex Hope, a Coalition farmer member representing Delta in the Fraser Valley; Angus McLean, Cln.-Cariboo; Art Ritchie, Cln.-Salmon Arm, and Tom King, Cln.-Columbia.

Hope warned that if the legislation was passed there likely would be a shortage of fluid milk in B.C. during the winter months. Farmers would cut down their herds, which milked heavier in the summer, to meet only the fluid milk market.

This would mean the milk supply during the light season, the winter, would not be sufficient to meet the requirements of consumers.

The farmers were depending now on good prices for milk by-products during the summer when there was a surplus. Heavier sales of margarine would confine them to fluid milk production only, he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mitchell and family

NEW VICTORIANS

by Gwen Cash

"It's wonderful," says Francis Mitchell about Victoria. "No one's in a hurry. People are kindness itself."

She and her husband, ex-Sqdn. Ldr. Mitchell retired at 38, and their four children, Gale, 11; Brian, 9; Glen, 6, and Les, 2, have been here about six weeks.

"They have bought a home, 89 Howe Street, sent the two eldest children to Sir James Douglas School, started gardening, and Mr. Mitchell has established himself in business in Oak Bay."

"His idea of a good life," laughs his wife "is to sell all week, fly all week-end, golf between."

This is the Mitchells' first permanent home since they were married. Her husband entered the air force when he was 16, became an instructor. They have lived in everything from tool sheds to luxury hotels.

"I've always had to keep three or four trunks packed ready to start anywhere at a moment's notice," she says. "So I can't seem to get used to the idea that this time I can empty all the trunks and put the stuff away in cupboards. Or that the children can have bicycles and toys that don't need to fit into cartons in case of a sudden move."

The Mitchells have lived in Uclulet, Bella Bella, Comox, Edmont, Dawson-Creek, Rivers, Trenton, Belleville, Ottawa, North-Sydney, N.S., Pat Bay, Halifax, Dartmouth and Sea Island. Sometimes they went back to the same station three times in one year.

"We lived in Dawson Creek, B.C.," Mrs. Mitchell says, "when water was $1.85 a barrel and brought to your door in an old wagon drawn by two horses. I moved 14 times with one new baby."

"The children have been trained to look after their own suit cases when we travel. Being used to flying they are scared stiff of trains. If they have to travel by rail they pull down the blinds, climb into their bunks and try to sleep."

AMATEUR PAINTER, WRITER

Mrs. Mitchell paints portraits and writes radio scripts. "I'm only an amateur at both," she said, "though I've taken a course in the latter. My efforts are constantly interrupted by the children of course but I enjoy trying."

She enjoys most things, golf, flying, books, and gardening as well. Tall, black haired, with gentle blue eyes, she has a gay and casual manner, an interesting personality.

The Mitchells own a two-seater plane and use it a lot. They frequently fly to Vancouver and have only recently returned from California.

Next winter, says Mrs. Mitchell, when her husband has the business running smoothly, they intend to fly to Bermuda.

Wins Scholarship To Study Abroad

Walter E. Knotts, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Knotts, 3115 Somerset, has been awarded a scholarship to study abroad in the summer months. Mr. Knotts attended Victoria College and received his B.A. degree at the University of British Columbia.

He is now at Harvard University, where he has received his M.A. and is at present studying for his Ph.D. Mr. Knotts will travel in England, France and Italy. Much of his time in England will be spent in research and in Italy he hopes to revisit spots where he fought during World War II.

During his investigation he came to the idea of using radio beams to spot and identify enemy aircraft.

Without radar, Watson-Watt claimed, the air Battle of Britain would have been lost and the country invaded.

"I proposed, devised, made with my own hands, installed, erected, maintained and operated radar devices of considerable complexity, of considerable novelty and in one or two cases of exceptional brilliance," he added.

The hearing is expected to take several days.

BRIDGE LESSON

by Oswald Jacoby

The approach of the Ohio State Tournament (which will be played in Cleveland at the end of April) reminds me of a hand that the late Louis Watson played in this same annual tournament many years ago.

North's bid of two no-trump would not be made by an expert in modern competition. In 1930, when this hand was played, such bids—with one suit wide open—were quite common.

The defenders quickly rattled off three heart tricks against Watson's final contract of four spades. West won the third round of hearts and led a club, after which it was up to Watson to take the rest of the tricks.

He took the club with dummy's king and led a spade to his ace. Not suspecting the bad trump break, declarer continued with the king of spades. When West discarded a heart Watson realized that he would have to execute a double trump coup in order to make his contract.

He led his remaining club to dummy's ace and ruffed a club in his own hand. Then he led the five of diamonds.

If West had been a really brilliant player, he would have put up his queen. However, West made the routine play of a low diamond, and the jack of diamonds was finessed from dummy.

This "unnecessary" finesse created an extra entry to dummy. Watson ruffed dummy's last club and then led the king of diamonds to dummy's ace.

At this point East's two remaining cards were the jack and nine of spades, while South had the queen and ten of spades. No matter what was led from dummy, South could win both of the remaining tricks.

Nationalists Talking War; Stone In England

GLASGOW (Reuters) — The stolen Coronation Stone — the 336-pound slab of sandstone upon which the Kings of England have been crowned for centuries—left here today in a police convoy for London.

After two days of secrecy, a large black car crept out of Glasgow police headquarters at dawn. In front were three other cars. One, on its own, carrying plain-clothes detectives, was apparently a decoy.

These elaborate precautions were taken because Scottish Nationalists had threatened an "open war" if the stone were taken back to London. Nationalists admitted having organized its removal from beneath the coronation chair in Westminster Abbey Christmas Day. They claim the stone belongs to Scotland and should stay there.

Miss Wendy Wood, tarian-killed Nationalist leader, is going to London this week-end to campaign for support, she said.

After police looked in vain for three months, the stone appeared mysteriously Wednesday. Three men, believed to be Scottish Nationalists, drove up with it to Arbroath Abbey, where the declaration of Scottish independence was signed in 1320.

They carried it to the high altar, covered it with the Blue Cross flag of Scotland's patron saint, Saint Andrew, and left it—with a "keep off" warning to the English.

By ART STOTT

You don't have to be long in the newspaper business to appreciate the popular meaning of "fair criticism." On almost anything requiring judgment — a play, game, music, art, or speech — you're asked for "fair criticism." If you're wise, you'll turn up the word "fair" in the dictionary.

In mine, the first definition is "to make fair; beautify." A long way down the list is the definition you had accepted as common: "In a spirit of justice and reason." If anyone asks you for "fair criticism," you'll save yourself no end of abuse and avoid injuring everybody's feelings if you just insert another little word in that phrase. Make it read "fair-weather criticism." Beautify it! That's what the man wants.

IT'S ADVISABLE to keep that in the back of your mind when you follow the current trend of American magazines to present the opinion of outsiders on the United States. The publications are asking for criticism — which is a good thing and could have great value.

In the April 24 issue of "Look," Bertrand Russell has written his version of "What's Wrong With Britain." It's a bit provocative that the full page introductory portrait of Lord Russell bears the legend "What's Wrong With Americans?" There's a slight difference there. And there's an obvious bit of needling in the subtitle quotation, taken from context, which says: "Now it is America who rules the waves and insolence has crossed the Atlantic with naval power."

THE DISTINGUISHED Briton had prefaced that remark with the admission that in earlier times the British "were guilty of unpardonable insolence toward America," a characteristic that belonged to the time when Britannia ruled the waves. The qualification softens the later impeachment.

It isn't too hard to remember, even in Victoria, the days when a similar insolence was extended by certain unfortunate colonial-minded people toward Canada. Lord Russell does roll up his sleeves in the "Look" article, though, and punches a lot of American misconceptions of Britain flatter than Joe Louis' feet. He reminds American readers of the price Britain paid for victory in two wars, criticizes the assumption of some United States citizens that Britain is less democratic than their own country, and reminds them that nine-tenths of the honor of achieving nuclear fission rests with Britons — the same school of scientists who paved the way for Edison's triumphs in the field of electricity.

HE CLOSES WITH a plea for friendship and greater mutual understanding. Nevertheless, "Look," anticipating adverse reaction from American readers, has made arrangements for a competent American to present the United States' side in its next issue.

What Lord Russell and, on another occasion, a distinguished Canadian writer have told Americans about themselves is gentle in the extreme by comparison to what Philip Wylie told them. But Phil is an American. The British and Canadian writers were mild indeed when their views were stacked against the satire of Sinclair Lewis. But Sinclair Lewis was an American — an American, his personal secretary Alexander Manson tells us, "who writhed in discomfort when he heard Europeans criticizing them. He was like a father with a wayward child; he himself could get angry with America, but God help anyone else who did."

THAT ISN'T A peculiarly American reaction. For the good of its soul, the nation or family invites "fair criticism." What its members are saying, in effect, is "Beat us, if we need beating. But make sure you beat us with a bouquet of roses, and make sure there are no thorns left on them." If you want to make friends and influence people, drop "criticism" from the phrase. Just speak "fair." Don't beat anything but drums for something or somebody.

"Equique" does that for Britain in the May issue. It tells the American man what a swell place Britain is for a summer visit. It talks about shopping in London, the tradition and cosiness of English inns. It baits a nice hook to lure the U.S. male across the Atlantic. And doubtless it will appeal to a lot of people who want things to be said "fairly."

Alberni Widow Seeks Damages From Govt.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The widow of a Port Alberni taxi driver who was drowned with four others Nov. 26, 1949, appeared in Exchequer Court today seeking compensation from the government for herself and her four children.

Thomas Angus MacDonald, 39, drove his taxi with four passengers off the wharf at Port Alberni. All were drowned.

The taxi driver's widow, Patricia Mary MacDonald, contended before Mr. Justice Sidney Smith that there was no guard rail on the wharf and that the lights had been turned off an hour before the accident.

The action is being defended by D. J. McAlpine for the government, which denies liability for MacDonald's death on the ground that he knew the condition of the wharf.

Widespread Hunt For Ont. Killer

KILLALOE, Ont. (CP) — Police said today they have discovered the strangled and battered body of a 51-year-old taxi driver in his home and have launched a widespread search for an unidentified slayer.

The victim was identified as Lloyd Barber of Killaloe, a community about 100 miles west of Ottawa.

Police said a hand towel was knotted about the throat and the man's head apparently had been battered by a blunt instrument.

Kyuquot Youngster Badly Cut By Axe

ZEBALLOS (CP) — A two-year-old girl, who "almost severed" her arm while playing with an axe, was flown here Thursday from the west coast community of Kyuquot.

Doctors said amputation may be necessary. They did not release the name of the child.

The 35-mile mercy flight was made by Capt. Danny McInvor of Queen Charlotte Airlines.

Dr. Titus Gains Final Of Empress Golf Play

Dr. Bruce Titus of Portland won his way into the finals of the Sir Edward Beatty handicap event in the 21st Empress Hotel golf tournament today when he defeated fellow townsman R. L. Borst 6 and 5 at the Victoria Golf Club.

The elimination of Borst from the major event of the winter golf classic broke up the first man-and-wife combination to come within reach of the big trophies. Mrs. Borst is playing today in the semifinals of the women's handicap.

The other semifinals, V. Painter of Colwood and C. B. Francis of Seattle were all square off the 17th tee at press time.

One down at the 12th, Painter dropped the par three 13th hole to Francis, who had a four, went on to win the 14th with a par three, halved the 15th, and won the 16th with a par four to square the match.

The Colwood golfer is scheduled to start off the first tee in the open amateur finals soon after he finishes his handicap round. In the open, which he has won three times in the past five years, Painter is matched with club mate Bill McColl, defending open champion.

Semifinalists in the women's handicap, who started later than the men, are still on the course.

North 'Advised Of Road Work'

Reporting on the aftermath of Joe North's complaints to City Council Tuesday, regarding road works on his block, Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of public works, said today, Mr. North had been advised of local improvement procedure and cost, March 16, but to date had not replied.

The public works estimated cost for various methods of resurfacing Johnson Street between Cook and Chambers. They stated that the annual levy for 15 years on taxpayers with a 60-foot lot would be if the work were done under the Legal Improvement Act, Dr. Hunter said.

"We built a 30-foot road but the residents want a curb to curb road with no boulevard and the public works committee suggested the extra work be done under local improvement," he said. "There has been no reply to that letter of March 16 yet, to my knowledge."

One down at the 12th, Painter dropped the par three 13th hole to Francis, who had a four, went on to win the 14th with a par three, halved the 15th, and won the 16th with a par four to square the match.

The Colwood golfer is scheduled to start off the first tee in the open amateur finals soon after he finishes his handicap round. In the open, which he has won three times in the past five years, Painter is matched with club mate Bill McColl, defending open champion.

Semifinalists in the women's handicap, who started later than the men, are still on the course.

The public works estimated cost for various methods of resurfacing Johnson Street between Cook and Chambers. They stated that the annual levy for 15 years on taxpayers with a 60-foot lot would be if the work were done under the Legal Improvement Act, Dr. Hunter said.

"We built a 30-foot road but the residents want a curb to curb road with no boulevard and the public works committee suggested the extra work be done under local improvement," he said. "There has been no reply to that letter of March 16 yet, to my knowledge."

B.C. Legislature Prorogation Nears

One Of Longest Sessions On Record May Come To End Here Wednesday

Prorogation of the Legislature is fast approaching with estimates for the current fiscal year finally passed.

The House has approved the spending of $118,269,089 by the government in the year, and now the estimates are completed, efforts will be concentrated on passage of new legislation.

Hunter Opposes Any Shelving Of Bridge Project

Of any civic projects to be shelved, Point Ellice Bridge should be the last, Ald. J. D. Hunter, chairman of public works said today.

He was asked to comment on a statement of Mayor Percy George that the city should give careful consideration in deciding on a policy for further borrowing for capital expenditures in view of the low bids on serial debentures.

The latter means borrowing money at high interest rates the mayor said. He added that he was merely reiterating a policy enunciated in his inaugural address.

"I refer to no particular projects but a policy in general," said the mayor today.

Money would have to be borrowed, if authorized by the ratepayers by a money-by-law first, to build the bridge.

"We want to build the bridge as soon as possible," said Dr. Hunter. "All we're waiting for are the plans and estimate of cost. When we get that the matter will have to be thoroughly discussed."

Value of a new bridge in connection with civil defence was stressed by Dr. Hunter.

Jury Exemption Ruling Changed

Only judges of the Supreme Court of B.C. will be allowed to exempt persons from serving as jurors for criminal trials under an amendment to the Jury Act going through the Legislature.

Practice of permitting County Court judges to grant such exemptions has been found unsatisfactory and it is felt the right should be confined to the Supreme Court judge who actually presides at the court of Assize.

Crashing Plane Just Misses N.Y. Bridge

NEW YORK (UP) — A navy plane crashed and exploded in the East River today, narrowly missing the Manhattan Bridge and small harbor craft near the Brooklyn navy yard.

The plane, believed to be a two-seater type craft, screamed out of a power dive and sank in flames, only a few feet off the Manhattan shore, the Coast Guard said. The pilot apparently was trapped in the wreckage.

Artificial Rain Expert Speaks Here

Dr. Vincent Schaefer of the General Electric Company, Schenectady, N.Y., one of the world's great authorities on artificial rain, will be in Victoria April 19 and 20 to address the Western Snow Conference.

Dr. Schaefer will be among the some 150 experts in the science of forecasting who will gather here from all states west of the Rocky Mountains to attend the conference. He conceived the idea of producing rain by seeding clouds with dry ice and silver iodide.

LAWYER CALLS OFFICER 'IDIOT,' IS REBUKED BY POLICE JUDGE

Lawyer Arthur P. Dawe received a scolding from Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today when he said an officer who gave testimony "must be an idiot" because he could not describe a certain waitress mentioned in a case.

Magistrate Hall interrupted by saying the officer in question was not an experienced policeman but one of the newer recruits "and you should not use such terms because he cannot reply." At this point C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, remarked "that's why he (counsel) does it." Mr. Dawe apologized to the court.

5-Cent Winning Told At Macmillan Gaming Trial

Testimony by a constable that a pinball machine won him a 5-cent payoff was a feature today of opening of the police court trial of Alderman Robert Macmillan and Erskine Johnson on a charge of keeping a common gaming house.

Constable Raymond Thomas testified that on the evening of Jan. 18 he played the machines in the office of Macmillan's Auto Court, 617 Gorge, owned by the alderman. In plain clothes at the time, the officer said he got two free games credited to him on a machine, played one and got a nickel from Mr. Anderson for the other.

The officer said Anderson told him of previous payoffs that had been made for wins on the machines.

Anderson, who is caretaker of the cabins and employed just two days before the alleged offence, denied he gave Const. Thomas the nickel as a result of winning on the machine.

Stabbing Scene Described By 2 Detectives

Two city detectives testified today at the Assize Court trial of Anton Konkin, charged with intent to murder, with regard to their investigations into the Oct. 10 stabbing case which resulted in the serious wounding of John Novak, 2571 Cook Street.

Detectives F. Woodburn and Louis Callan, who were called to the scene, said the victim's kitchen was splattered with blood.

"They found a blood-stained knife under the kitchen table. Earlier, John Novak testified that Konkin stabbed him in the back as he was about to go out into the garden to pick 'peas.' Konkin came to his house to discuss 'arrangements' with regard to business debt, he said.

The trial is continuing before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane. Gordon Cameron is representing the accused.

My hat! Do you know that one of our bowling team members... bowling, that's short for don't pitch the ball. Mabel, baseball doesn't start till next month... breezed in with a Florida-type tan begotten in our own fair city.

Well, if them's the conditions what prevails, it's time to tell you that peasant blouses are here to stay.

Spanking white with wide embroidered eyelet flounce at the

The sports togs and for all the square dancing fun you're going to enjoy this season there are tubbabe pique and gingham skirts. In the waffle pique you'll find bold navy and white, black, or green with white, side zipper fastening and ample room in the folds of the skirt. The gingham, caught up coyly at the hemline to reveal dainty insets of embroidered eyelet, are available in the same color combinations. Price on the skirts, $3.95.

Know there'll be many a housewife who'll attain her sun-tan while dirt-dobbing in the back garden so I'll mention garden tools that sell in $4.25 sets, might be of some help to her. For her money she can take home a short-handled spade, fork and long-stemmed rake. That's right, they're the British-made tools.

Little plastic hanging baskets with novelty brackets gain more popularity by the day, it seems. Like anything else, plastic will crack or break after receiving its quota of bumps and knocks.

Unfortunately, the baskets are not sold separately, should the like of yours break. You might save the day though by using a plastic mending material.

I'll no guarantee you anything, mind, but many people have used and liked the 30-cent tube of cement. It's an all-purpose cement to do quick work on glass, china, metals, paper, leather and fabrics. Wouldn't suggest though, that it be used on food or liquid containers.

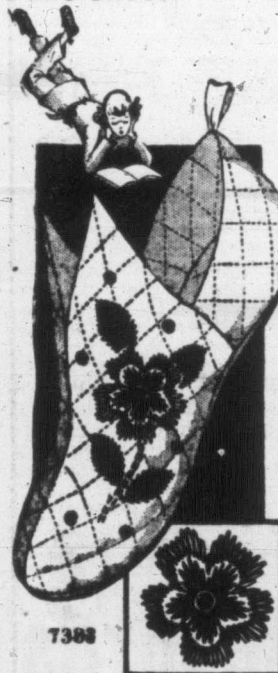

To moisten the edge of the undercrust of a pie, simply use an ice cube from the refrigerator. This will supply just the right amount of moisture.

When storing cooked meats, leave in large pieces. Keep very cold. Chop and grind just before using.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'My Face Is Fat; I'm Afraid
It Will Sag As I Grow Older'

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I have never written to the question box before, because most of my problems have been covered by answers to others. I haven't seen any facial exercises. I am quite thin but I have a fat face. From my cheekbone to jawbone there is entirely too much fat. Will you send me some exercises to reduce this fat? If I don't get rid of it I think it will sag when I get older. I am now 15 years old. Also I am short, only five feet one-inch tall. Do you know of any way to hasten this process of growing taller? I am tired bending backwards when I talk to people."

A. Do not worry about the fat on your cheeks. It will have just the opposite effect to sagging. One reason women sag, as they get older is because the fat between the skin and the muscles thins with the years. You are lucky to have a slim figure and a full face.

I know of no way to increase height except by improving posture. If you do not hold yourself correctly you can add an inch or so to your stature by improving your posture.

I sometimes think that young people today, as a whole, seem taller than they were a generation or so ago and wonder if this may be due to vitamins which they have had through the growing period. Are you getting yours? There is still time for you to grow taller. Young people shoot up at different ages, depending on the individual.

Q. "Am I proportioned correctly? I am 5 feet, 4 1/2 inches tall and weigh 125 pounds. My bust measures 36 1/2 inches; waist, 25 inches; and hips, 36 1/2 inches."

A. Yes—just about perfect. Don't let the hips get any larger.

Q. "I just bought a complexion brush and wonder if there is any special way I should use it. My complexion has never been very good and I have heard that a brush helps a lot if used in the right way."

A. Yes, there is a definite way which will not stretch the skin but will stimulate circulation. Get the brush wet and soapy and place it on one spot on your face. Use it in that spot with a rotary motion. Move on to another part of the face—do the same thing. The brush should not be too hard but on the flexible soft side. Keep this up until you have been all over the face.

Q. "I live on Long Island and my cat has fleas. I would like to know how I can get rid of the marks the bites leave because I scratch them. I am only 13 years old and my legs look like a hundred-year-old person's. Also tell me if my measurements are correct; bust, 31 1/2 inches; waist, 24 inches; hips, 35 inches."

A. More to the point—how can you get rid of the cat? No, I do not mean that because I know you would not want to lose your pet, but take it to a veterinarian and have it "delfed" regularly. The marks will become much lighter, given time. Your measurements are fine. Your bust will fill out as you grow older.

Make your recipe cards and recipe book covers stainproof by covering them with a thin transparent coat of shellac.

Lady Astor Urges
Canadian Women
Get Into Politics

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian women should take a more active part in politics, Lady Nancy Astor, first and long-time woman member of the British House of Commons, said in an interview here.

In Canada "to visit friends," American-born Lady Astor said Canadian women should begin their bid for a larger place in the country's life by getting into local politics—on community groups, councils and boards.

"That's the way we started in England and that's the way you can work into the bigger provincial and national picture here."

Women are badly needed in public life, she added.

"Look at the mess poor, misguided men have made of things in the last 2,000 years—trying to do it all by themselves. It's like a man trying to raise a family by himself."

An outspoken critic of Britain's Labor Government, Lady Astor said that "if the Socialist Government doesn't go under, Britain will."

CITIZENSHIP BEGINS IN THE HOME

HAMILTON (CP)—Citizenship education of Canadians should begin in the home when children are young, so that when they grow into young men and women they will know the meaning of their heritage, Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Hamilton West, said last night.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the Provincial Chapter of Ontario Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, Canada's only woman member of parliament said that if this education was not given in the home, it might be done by a glib tongue later on.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Man Thought Wife Perfect, But Fed Up Trying To Keep Peace Between Her, His Mother

Dear Mary Haworth: When I married Jane, I thought she was just about the most perfect creature that ever lived. We didn't have much in common, but I went all out to please her, always doing the things she liked and never fussing about it.

I knew she had a temper and was stubborn and moody; she never tried to hide the fact; but I was so crazy for her I thought it wouldn't matter. Well, after five years I know it does matter. I am just about ready to quit. She can't take criticism or advice of any kind. I've practically broken off with my family just because Jane can't get along with my mother. Things got so bad between them that mom Mary Haworth finally had to ask me not to come to the house anymore when Jane was with me.

WIFE TELLS MAN TO MARRY MOTHER!

Whenever we see my people, or get a letter from them, Jane gets ill, has nausea and nightmares and blames them. She thinks she is just perfect, however. For years it was talk, talk constantly about psychology and philosophy; and she wanted us both to be analyzed, until I told her flatly that I was tired of her.

MAN'S IN FAVOR OF BEING UNWEANED

Dear J.B.: In the Scriptures, see Ephesians 5:31, we are told: "For this cause (marriage) shall a man leave his father and mother and shall be joined unto his wife, and they two shall be one flesh." But I gather you and your mother don't see marriage that way.

Obviously you haven't been happy, either with Jane, or with your mother, or with your own company. Your idea of happiness consists in the pre-adolescent notion that it is the other person's responsibility in a relationship to produce a state of reliable comfort.

To solve your problem, start by seeing that self understanding and responsible behavior are required of you. If and as you take this attitude, you will be facing towards maturity—the basis of which is freedom from excessive dependence upon your mother. When that emotional distortion is corrected, you can bring a clear head to your relationship with Jane.

MOTMOT PRUNES HIS TAIL

In vanity is little gain; Contentment most likely will obtain.

—Old Mother Nature.

Motmot, called King of the Woods, is beautiful. Indeed, it is because of his beauty that some folks call him King of the Woods for there is nothing else kinglier about him. Now all too often people who are beautiful to look at are vain of their fine appearance and think more about their fine looks than about anything else. They want to be admired and envied by all who see them, and are happiest only when they are showing off and attracting the attention of others.

Motmot has a very beautiful coat. It is especially lovely when the sun shines on it and it seems as if every feather in it catches a sunbeam the way a diamond does, or sometimes a drop of water, and like these turns the sunbeam into sparkling color. Only Jacamar, his near neighbor, has as beautiful a coat. Perhaps Motmot is a little jealous. People who are vain are very apt to be jealous. He has no reason to be jealous, at least no more reason than Jacamar has to be jealous of him. Of course he may not be jealous at all, but he surely does like to draw attention to himself. Yes, sir, he surely does. And he does it with his tail.

Motmot's tail is unusually long for a bird of his size, the two middle feathers being much longer than the other feathers of the tail. Jacamar's tail is not nearly as long. You would think Motmot would be satisfied with this, but it appears that he isn't. Yes, sir, it appears that he isn't. Just why he isn't satisfied with those beautiful long tail feathers just as Mother Nature has given them to him nobody knows, but apparently he wants them different. Perhaps he doesn't know himself. So he does something about it. He prunes them.

You know how gardeners prune bushes and trees by cutting the branches here and there to make them into different shapes. Well, that is just what Motmot does to his tail so that it will look unlike any other tail. He was doing this now as Mrs. Motmot looked on. You know the tail or wing feather of a bird has a long rib or quill down the middle, bigger at the upper and growing smaller all the way to the tip. Growing out from opposite sides of this are what looks like tiny feathers. They grow very, very close together and are quite stiff, forming what is called the vane. Feathers from the body of birds are likely to be soft and fluffy.

Motmot, called King of the Woods, is beautiful.

but a tail feather, or wing feather, is quite stiff and firm. That is so the rain cannot get through it when the bird is flying.

Motmot, or King of the Woods if you like that better, had twisted his head around so as to study his tail. He had pruned the lower part of each of the two middle feathers by picking off from the rib or quill the tiny feathers growing out from the sides, so that for an inch or so there was only bare rib. But he hadn't done this to the very end. He had been careful not to in any way disturb the tiny feathers there. So each of the bare quills ended in a nearly round feathered button.

"I think, my dear, that you have taken off enough," said Mrs. Motmot, who was looking on.

Motmot said nothing. He pulled a tiny feather from one side of one tail feather just above the bare part. Then he pulled one from the other side to even it. Of course this made the bare part just a very wee bit longer. He did the same thing to the other tail feather.

"Don't you think that is better?" said he.

Mrs. Motmot didn't say and Motmot continued. "I think perhaps two or three more from each will be better still. Don't you, my dear?"

"I think enough is enough, and you have done enough," declared Mrs. Motmot rather shortly. Motmot pulled off one more tiny feather and stopped pruning his tail. Had he been doing this from vanity, or from habit, as some boys bite their fingernails? Who knows?

(Copyright, 1951, by Thornton W. Burgess.)
The next story: Why Motmot Swings His Tail.

Willows—Findley MacKinnon, chief forester in charge of forest management, B.C. Forest Service, told of experiences while visiting Scandinavia and highlighted his talk with colored slides, at a meeting of Willows P.T.A. President Mrs. J. H. Hamlet appealed for more voluntary help from parents for the summer at community playgrounds. Reports on the parent-teacher convention were given. Mrs. E. Costain moved a vote of thanks to Mr. MacKinnon and convened the serving of refreshments.

Works Of G.B.S. To Dominate Stage For Britain's Festival

By JACQUES POUTEAU

LONDON (Reuters) — The Festival of Britain, less than three weeks away, has brought Bernard Shaw a bout of post-humous popularity in the London theatre.

His death resulted in a new spurt of interest in his works, and several theatrical managements have judged the time doubly ripe to revive his plays.

First on the list is "Man and Superman," Shaw's biting satire on the battle of the sexes. It netted its author more than $100,000 when it was produced in New York at the beginning of the century.

The play is one of the biggest draws in town.

Sir Laurence Olivier and his wife, Vivien Leigh, who have not appeared in London together since 1949, have also chosen a Shaw play for their return to the St. James' theatre next month.

They will present "Caesar and Cleopatra" which they will contrast the following night with Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra," playing the title roles in both.

Although the box office is not yet open, applications for seats for both plays, which are to be shown alternatively, have been pouring in from all over.

Shaw is also "sandwiched" with Shakespeare, whom he affected to consider inferior to himself in the Old Vic.

Shakespeare and Shaw will vie again in major independent productions. A new "Hamlet" with Alec Guinness as the Prince is due in May. Later in the summer a production of the "Winter's Tale" will bring John Gielgud back to London after his long absence in the United States.

About the same time theatrical manager Basil Dean plans to revive "The Apple Cart" Shaw's devastating political satire.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

Superstitious Stars Cautious — Hedy Stayed In Bed Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hedy Lamarr stayed in bed today. Are you that wary of Friday the 13th?

Probably not, but then you're probably not as aware of omens and luck as actors are.

Movie stars owe a large part of their success to chance. You can't blame them for harboring tokens that might sustain their luck and shunning things that might vex them.

There is a whole catalogue of show-business superstitions. Most noted are the prohibitions against whistling in a dressing room or putting a hat on a bed.

Bob Hope thinks it's bad luck to the first scene of a picture right the first time.

Spencer Tracy, on the other hand, says it's bad luck to repeat the last line of a picture before the time comes to shoot it.

Joan Crawford makes it a point to wear a new pair of shoes in the first scene of her pictures. Others are concerned with shoes, too.

Jimmy Stewart both have good-luck shoes they wear in at least one scene of each picture. Gene Tierney puts on her shoes before anything else.

OTHER KEEPSAKES

Charles Boyer still has the suit and tie in which he made his acting debut in Paris. Ann Southern keeps an ancient wicker rocking chair on the sets of her films. Rosalind Russell wears the dressing gown from her stage days at some time during each picture. Bing Crosby still has the drum sticks that got him his first job with a band.

Burlesque Beauty Patterns Strip On Bette Davis' Acting

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Guys and Dolls: I've got some news for Bette Davis that will make her eyes really pop. Bette is stripper Lili St. Cyr's inspiration on the screen.

Not Ava Gardner, Betty Grable or Paulette Goddard, mind you, but Bette herself.

"She has such an expressive way of handling her body," confided frosty-eyed Lili, who, having wowed night club customers, is heading for a movie career. "Other actresses float around, but the way Bette controls her body makes me feel what she does."

Lili isn't sure that Bette could succeed on the runways—matter of fact she wouldn't hire any movie queen as her understudy—but she rates Lana Turner and Hedy Lamarr as the Shebas most likely to score a mild hit in burlesque.

Lili doesn't know why movie producers persist in offering her sweetgirl roles—"I want to play sultry women"—and they can count her out if they want her for a picture about burlesque.

Says the stripper:

"It's the roughest part of show business. I do it for the money."

Spencer Tracy and Pat O'Brien are trading lines like "Remember the old swimming hole?" on the set of M.G.M.'s "The People vs. O'Hara" and they're not in the script, either.

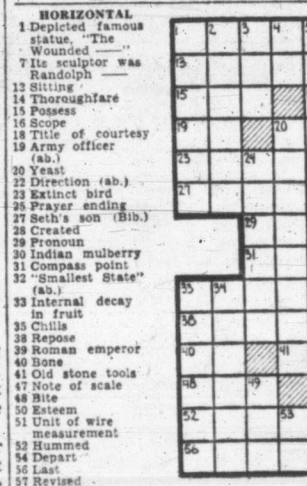

They were boyhood pals before they started looking in the mirror for chins. Last time Spencer and Pat worked together was in a Baltimore stock company back in 1928.

Actress Files Suit

PARIS (AP) — Actress Marlene Dietrich Tuesday filed suit for $50,000 damages against Paris weekly newspaper France-Dimanche for what she called unauthorized publication of a series titled "My Life." In her complaint, Miss Dietrich said she never had agreed to publication of her memoirs.

U.S. Plan To Allot Material Complete

Will Be Ready To Start July 1 If Total War Comes Says Organizer

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government will have machinery set up by July 1 to turn the whole economy quickly into full war production if necessary. The machinery—known as the Controlled Materials Plan—is designed to make sure that defence needs are met and, short of an all-out war, to maintain a "reasonable level" of civilian production.

Johnson Discusses Tax Rental Pact With Federal Govt.

Premier Byron Johnson said in the Legislature Thursday the course the government will take in negotiating with the federal government on a new income and corporation tax, rental agreement, due next year will depend on conditions of the day.

Answering Opposition Leader Harold Winch in discussion of estimates for his office, Mr. Johnson said a reasonable approach would be made in the matter.

He said the province hadn't been able to press its arguments for higher rental when the question was discussed at the last Dominion-provincial conference because of the need for increased defence spending.

"You can rest assured, though, that everything possible will be done to protect the interests of the province," the Premier said.

New Car Ferry On Run June 15

The C.P.R.'s new car ferry, Ss. Princess of Nanaimo, will begin service between Vancouver and Nanaimo on June 15.

The $4,500,000 vessel, now nearing completion in Scotland, will sail from the Clyde May 2. Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Steamship Service, is now in Scotland for the ship's trials.

The new ferry will provide accommodation for 1,500 passengers and between 90 and 100 automobiles.

NO ATOMIC EXPLOSION

Only Setting Different In New Treatment For Cancer

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
NEW YORK (AP)—What is new about "the first atomic explosion ever to take place in the human body," as reported in the words of Collier's Magazine?

This was a treatment for brain cancer in an unidentified woman, who lay on top of the giant new reactor of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission at Brookhaven-National Laboratory, Upton, N.Y.

Neutrons, the particles which reactors make, drove through the woman's skull and brain where they hit some boron in her cancer, and the boron supposedly exploded.

Air Cadets Here Mark Anniversary

R.C.A.F. Planes Over City Sunday

Aircraft of 442 Reserve Squadron, R.C.A.F., from Vancouver, will appear over the city Sunday afternoon at 2 on a normal practice of formation flying and other routines.

Mustangs averaging 300 to 325 miles per hour, and manoeuvrable Harvards will take part in the flight.

There is a possibility that Flt. Lt. Hugh Campbell, D.F.C., officer commanding the R.C.A.F. Recruiting Centre, 1315 Government Street, and one of Canada's leading helicopter pilots, may keep his hand in with a trip in a "whirly bird."

Mutual Agreement On Social Security

City Manager Cecil Wyatt and members of the city's outside staff late Thursday found themselves thinking along the same lines on at least one point in the current wage dispute.

The union asked for unemployment insurance coverage. Said Mr. Wyatt: "It is thoroughly good social legislation and I am certainly in favor of it."

British Ship Escapes, Sails Without Charts

HONG KONG (AP) — The British blockade-runner Edith Moller returned to Hong Kong yesterday with a story of breaking out of a Chinese Nationalist naval base and riding out a gale for several hundred miles without navigation charts.

The crew of the 800-ton coastal steamer told the story to reporters. It was understood Capt. C. V. L. Drury had made a full report to the Admiralty. Here is the crew's story:

The Moller was en route to Shanghai with 400 tons of general cargo when she was seized by a Nationalist gunboat April 9 and escorted to Tai Chau Island off the southeast China Coast.

The next day a gale blew up and the Nationalists signalled Drury to shift to a safer anchorage. He took advantage of the squall to make a break for freedom.

The Moller reached Hong Kong Thursday after making a trip of more than 300 miles through heavy seas and winds, and without charts.

Vancouver Has First Wedding In Jail House

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bob Alberts was married Thursday, but he'll have to spend his honeymoon in jail.

As a matter of fact, Bob and his wife were married in the jail, the first time it's ever happened here.

The romance began three months ago and the couple planned to get married. However, things were interrupted temporarily when Bob was arrested on charges he cashed $650 worth of forged cheques.

In court today he pleaded guilty to eight charges and was remanded by Magistrate Oscar Orr until Friday for sentence.

But Chief Constable Walter Mulligan gave permission for the wedding to go off as planned and Bob and his bride were married with three policemen and newspaper reporters as witnesses.

Police, Cameramen Clash In Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — Three American agency photographers and a Japanese cameraman were handled roughly by military policemen last night when they sought to photograph Gen. Douglas MacArthur returning to his headquarters.

The Americans were John Dominis of Life Magazine, Irwin Tress of International News Photos and Jim Pringle of the Associated Press. Military police said they had a line of protection they were told to maintain and perhaps photographers stepped out into it.

Base Wage Scales On Conditions Here—Wyatt

The city's contention that wages paid in another municipality should not be the determining factor in setting scales here, was reiterated by City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt at the conciliation hearing between the city and its outside staff Thursday.

Presenting the city's case, he said any modification of the wage structure should be based on conditions existing in Victoria and the "adjacent countryside."

The union is seeking wages comparable to the Vancouver level and Mr. Wyatt pointed out conditions existing in the two centres are not similar and that Vancouver is five times the size of Victoria.

Britain Wants Commander For Mid-East Navy

LONDON (CP) — Official sources said Thursday night Britain has turned down an American proposal that United States Admiral Robert B. Carney be named Supreme Commander in the Mediterranean for the Atlantic Pact forces.

Britain, still simmering over the appointment of an American Supreme Commander in the Mediterranean Post, these sources said. The nominee is Admiral Sir John Edleston, Commander-in-Chief of the Royal Navy's Mediterranean station.

Dispute over the Atlantic Commander has delayed formal announcement that the task will be handed to U.S. Admiral William F. H. Feltner. Until this dispute is settled, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower cannot name his air, land and sea commanders for southern Europe, the informants said.

Britain says it has borne the responsibility for defending the Middle East for nearly two centuries, and the experience and knowledge entitled it to organize its defence within the framework of the Atlantic Pact.

Italian-Red Quits

ROME (Reuters) — Another influential member of the Italian Communist party, Alfonso Gatto, 41-year-old author and poet, has resigned, the independent newspaper Il Messaggero said today.

It said he quit "on moral grounds." Hundreds have left the party since the resignation of the deputies Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccini in January as a protest against "Soviet domination."

Soldier Injury Reports Awaited

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Cox, 668 Beach Drive, today said they are still awaiting confirmation of reports received here that their son, Ernest, 21, had been wounded in Korea.

Unofficial word to the parents is that Private Cox, serving with the P.P.C.L.I., was shot through the left hand while examining a pistol at a rest camp behind the lines.

Embassies Told No Policy Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has sent circulars to all American embassies saying there is no change in American foreign policy as a result of the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Enemy Fighting Hit-And-Run War

TOKYO (AP)—Allied troops wielding flame-throwers today drove stubborn Reds out of pillboxes on the western Korean front.

Chinese Communists kept up their strange new tactic of disappearing in one sector, then bouncing back at the Allies in another. American soldiers have tagged it "operation mystify."

American airmen still were totaling up the score of history's biggest jet battle, which swirled Thursday over north-west Korea.

(But in Washington, the UP reported the air force reported that the B-29 bombers were shot down by enemy MIG-15 fighter planes in the Sinuiju area in northwest Korea yesterday.

(They were the first four-engined U.S. bombers shot down by enemy aircraft in the Korean war.

(A spokesman told newsmen he had no report on crews but assumed that all men aboard were lost. He said the bombers went down on the Korean side of the Yalu River which divides Korea and Manchuria.)

CLAIM VIOLATION
Peiping radio said 71 American bombers and fighters dropped 110 bombs on the Manchurian city of Antung. The Red broadcast, heard in Tokyo, also said American planes attacked the airfield outside the city.

All Allied planes are under strict orders not to cross the Yalu River.

On the western front, United Nations troops across the Han River advanced Friday against no opposition. There was no renewal of Wednesday's bitter fighting.

In the west-central sector, a spectacular Napaalm air strike, the closest yet to the Canadians in this sector, aided the Patricias yesterday when they concentrated their fire on Chinese positions.

The Chinese were indiscreet enough to move about 200 yards ahead of a mountain top captured Wednesday by a company commanded by Capt. Del Harrison of Calgary.

They drew the full weight of his fire, plus the flaming jelled gasoline.

Cause of the blaze was not immediately known.

Britain May Show Force To Iranians

LONDON (CP)—Britain threatened today to take action of her own to protect British lives and her giant oil concession in Iran following riots in which, at last reports, 30 persons were killed or wounded.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons that latest reports from Abadan, field headquarters of the British-controlled Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, said two British and one Italian seaman were among those who died in clashes Thursday.

Asked by Anthony Eden if warships would be sent without hesitation if necessary, Morrison said: "I should not hesitate to take appropriate action."

Amid cheers he added, "If British lives are imperilled, we have got to do something about it."

Issue Warrant For Woman On Neglect Charge

Mrs. Rose E. Cole Fails To Appear

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES
DUNCAN—A warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Rose Ellen Cole, common-law wife of William Hill, Port Renfrew bridge foreman, was issued at Duncan police court this afternoon by Magistrate G. A. Tisdall.

Mrs. Cole, who is being detained in Vancouver, was to have appeared at a preliminary today on a charge of causing grievous bodily harm.

She was arrested March 16 after a coroner's jury returned a verdict blaming her neglect and ill-treatment as contributing causes to the death March 6 of her three-year-old daughter, June Elizabeth Hill.

An R.C.M.P. constable and matron were sent to Vancouver late today to bring Mrs. Cole back to Duncan after she failed to appear at court.

Mrs. Cole has been free on $2,000 bail posted by her father, J. A. O'Neill of Kamloops.

A memorandum sent to all Legion branches and signed by Alfred Watts of Vancouver, Dominion president, was issued publicly today. The Legion already denies membership to members of the Communist party.

The new memo said the Communist peace programs in the democratic countries are simply efforts to weaken western rearmament while Russia rearms.

Refused Bed In Hospital

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mrs. Donald Ritchie, whose doctor reported a three-day delay in getting her admitted to hospital, has lost her first baby.

She was admitted to hospital Wednesday and Thursday night suffered a miscarriage. She was three months pregnant.

Eighteen-year-old Mrs. Ritchie was married last May. The doctor, who asked his name not be used, claimed he had been refused a bed for his patient because the hospitals are overcrowded.

At Victoria, Health Minister Turnbull said that Mrs. Ritchie would have been admitted to hospital if her doctor had reported the case as an emergency.

But the doctor said he had reported the case as an emergency and that it made no difference. Mr. Turnbull expressed the belief doctors in Vancouver were trying to sabotage the hospital insurance scheme.

Mrs. Ritchie's doctor termed the sabotage charge "ridiculous."

PAAT president Charles Campbell said the M.A.H.A. constitution states that a new president must be appointed by the executive and this would be one at this afternoon's meeting at New Glasgow. In the meantime no one could order the game replayed.

Republicans Want Talk To Congress

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate armed services committee today unanimously invited Gen. Douglas MacArthur to appear as a star witness in an inquiry into events that led to his removal from command in the Far East.

Republican leaders meanwhile piled new pressure on Democrats to let the general address a joint session of Congress next week.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts announced that MacArthur either will speak to Congress next Wednesday or Thursday or else will make a speech in New York.

Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), said the Senate committee backed the proposal for MacArthur to address an informal joint session of Congress. He explained it should be similar to the one held for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower upon his return from Europe.

UP TO DEMOCRATS

Martin put it up to Democratic House leaders to decide whether MacArthur would speak to Congress. He gave them until this afternoon. He said he would talk with Speaker Sam Rayburn and House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts then on the question of whether to invite the general to address Congress.

Rayburn said he is thinking it over. Martin said that if the answer is no, MacArthur "will go directly to New York from San Francisco, stopping at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel."

The general is flying back to this country Monday to give his homeland—which he has not seen in 14 years—his side of the policy quarrel which led to his dismissal Wednesday by President Truman.

THREE-ALARM FIRE SWEEPS CHINATOWN

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spectacular three-alarm fire roared through an old four-story building in the heart of Chinatown today.

Flames shot 20 feet into the air from a hole burned in the roof of the building, while dense, acrid black smoke filled the interior and hampered firemen in their efforts to get to the seat of the fire.

One Chinese, Wong Leong, caretaker, was overcome by smoke and had to be carried down a ladder from the second floor on the back of a fireman.

One fireman was overcome by smoke. Three other firefighters were ill, but managed to continue with their work.

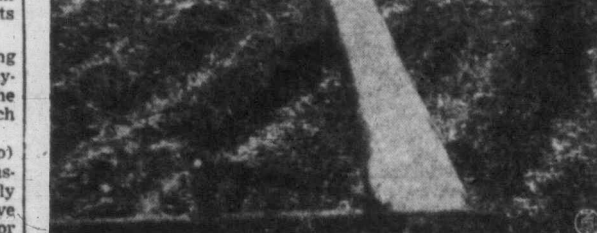

The blaze, fanned by a light west wind, looked for a time as though it would spread to building to the east, but firemen, with quick precision, got their streams of water into the building and had the blaze under control in about a half hour.

USED FIRE ESCAPE
Tong Ho, believed to be the only other man in the building besides the caretaker, threw his belongings out the back window and followed them down the fire escape.

The Sun Ah Hotel, separated from the blazing building by a space of about six inches on the west, was evacuated of all guests.

One casualty of the fire is believed to be the traditional Chinese dragon used in many of the brilliant ceremonies staged by the Chinese community on their feast days.

There was no immediate estimate of property loss.
